

Santiago At the Soup Kitchen

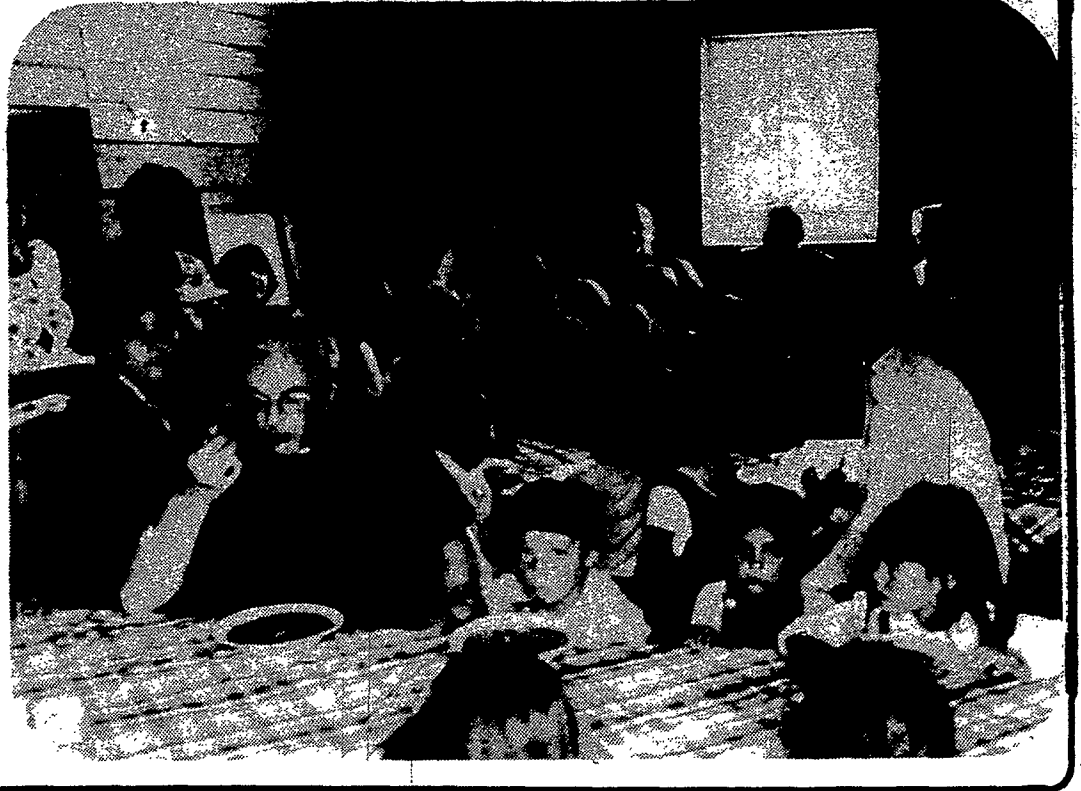

The soup kitchen at San Luis parish in Santiago, Chile, had an unusual customer recently. Bishop Joseph L. Hogan of Rochester visited with the youngsters who get one meal a day there and shared a meal with them.

The day Bishop Hogan stopped, 66 lunches were served to children of people who are out of work. The soup kitchen is one of the projects of the Rochester Sisters of Mercy who work as missionaries at San Luis.

All told, the parish conducts seven soup kitchens at its various chapels covering a wide area. Catholic Relief Services provides some assistance as do the local communities.

The diocesan collection on Mission Sunday also provides financial aid for these soup kitchens and other mission projects.

An old hand at ironing gets a once-over from Father Reinhart.

Sisters Jane and Margaret help at the laundry.

Women from a wealthy area and women from a poor one collaborate in running the laundry, the operation of which is coordinated by Sister Jane.

Latin greetings can be effusive.

Photos by Anthony J. Costello

Page 12
Trio
lash
st of the nd freestyle
ur comprise strong relay
ls.
vim season
14 and will
May 10, but some of his qualify for petition
girls' swim
efully grow
ith time. Hay
nd he looks
season when
m returns.
Jp
, May 7, the students of ales High
mbine forces
Spring Clean
program is ete Arthur, a
e Board of chairman of
and mainnittee. Sister
vice principal maintenance
ill assist in escriptions.
edy
B
ing Arts Club
present their
ion, Surprise,
at 8 p. m. in torium.
directed by l Heidt and include ac-
area high sts may be he door on