

groups. She ly.

he said, "is to unwed" She is a equipment tour of the h with the spread-out n, visited a homes.

hile and on pected and the military overed with

Gustavo Moraga, a mechanic, and his wife, Raquel Carrenao (in Latin countries wives often keep their own names) had some visitors in their simple home recently. Gustavo greets Bishop Hogan, left, as Sisters Margaret and Janet Korn look on. In center, Sister Janet Caufield greets the head of the house and at right Sister Janet Korn joins in conversation with the Chilean couple who have six children.

writing, mostly political slogans. The new government issued a decree that they all had to come off. One day when I returned home, Sister Janet said, 'Hurry up and help me.' We had to wash scrub clean the convent walls before 7 that night because they were going to come around and check."

What would have happened if they did not accomplish the task? "Probably a fine and I don't know what else."

Also stationed in Santiago is Father James R. Weckesser of Rochester, son of Mrs. Joseph Weckesser and the late Mr. Weckesser. He has two brothers in Rochester, Joseph and William, and one in New Jersey, Paul.

Big get-together.

Bishop Hogan, Father Hohman and Sisters Margaret, Janet Caufield and Janet Korn attract some attention during a walk through the Huechuraba Norte region of the San Luis parish.

Korn, in foreground, gets the group together for a photo with the 's Sister Janet Caufield behind group and Sister Margaret next to Bishop Hogan.

House call . . . Bishop Hogan, partially hidden, Father Conboy and Sister Margaret visit a Chilean woman.