What makes a good leader?
AQUINAS

Gerard Antetomaso, freshman

"A person who can communicate with other people. He should be a person who is concerned about other people and puts others before himself. A person who would get involved in school activities. If he's a good leader he'll carry his qualities out into life and remain a good leader. He has to have drive to reach a certain goal like in school, he'd work for a better Student Government. I don't think all of our political leaders have these qualifications."

John Frazer, senior, soccer

"A leader has to get along well with everyone so other students will give him their ideas. When I had a decision to make, I'd go around and ask people their ideas so they had an input into the decision. A leader has to be popular. He has to be somewhat aggressive just to get things done. Our government leaders are not communicating with the minorities; they tend to go with the majority for their own popularity rather than trying to do good for others."

Winner's Circle

RapAround weekly will run a photo of a group of students taken somewhere in the diocese. One person will be circled and if that person brings the clipping to the Courier-Journal before noon of the Tuesday following our publication date, he or she will receive $5. This week's photo was taken at Our Lady of Mercy during the May Day celebrations. The person circled above should bring the clipping to Joan M. Smith, Courier-Journal, by noon, Tuesday, June 7 to receive $5.

Mark Loewenguth, freshman, boxing

"He's got to like what he's doing and know what he has to do. He has to unify his people behind him and get help from them to do what he has to do. Most of our government leaders are well qualified."

John Case, sophomore, baseball

"Someone who gets involved, gets along good with the faculty and students, is able to talk in front of groups and is able to relate to everybody. A leader should be one of the group. He has to be an aggressive person in order to get things done."

Aquinas Guest

Recently, Sister Helen Weber's Bookkeeping II class at Nazareth Academy welcomed a special guest. Gerald McGuire, chairman of the Business Department at Aquinas, came to offer some helpful suggestions about taking the Bookkeeping Regents exam in June. He has taught regents classes in Bookkeeping II for several years.

Bookkeeping II is a new course at Nazareth this year and of the twenty girls presently enrolled in the course, several will continue accounting courses in college. Others will use their new skills, knowledge and training in the jobs they begin after graduation.

Success For Speakers

The Aquinas Forensic Society has completed a successful year and will hold their award banquet at Perkins Pancake Party House on Friday, June 10.

The club, moderated by Father Stephen Martin, has risen to the top in competition in three years. Their numerous awards have included city, county and state championships, including one New York State finalist in Humorous Interpretation — Larry Costanza.

The debaters meet every day in the library to plan on upcoming tournaments and to brush up on the National topic areas.

Notre Dame Inducts Honor Society Members

Elmira — On Tuesday evening, May 10, 29 Notre Dame students were inducted into the Lourdes chapter of the National Honor Society.

Daniel Wheeland, chapter president, presided over the program. Father Richard Murphy, Notre Dame chaplain, opened the induction with a prayer. Sister Mary Walter, principal, described the characteristics of a member of the National Honor Society.

Sister Mary Joachim, moderator of the school's chapter, introduced the new members who joined in the traditional candlelight ceremony and the Honor Society pledge. Father Joseph M. Egan, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, was the main speaker.

New members are: seniors Annette Caroscio, Cheryl Cook, Molly Fennell, Maureen O'Brien, David Pesesky, Mathew Riordan, and Gerald Sheehy; juniors Kris Burns, Betsy Cannon, Mary Beth Craft, Karen Gough, Karen Hayes, John Kesser, Patricia McNamara, Mollie O'Brien, Michelle Palmer, Mary Tuller and Elizabeth Watts; sophomores Peter Bamford, Richard Donahue, Thomas Falkenberg, Kathleen Healy, Susan Hull, Theresa Mallare, Alex Olszowy, Eileen Seaman, Linda Taylor, Mary Alice Tierney and Andrew Watts.

Officers of the Lourdes chapter are: Daniel Taylor, vice president; Thomas Curran, treasurer; and Patricia Mathew, secretary.

Joe Capagrec, senior, band

"A good leader should be able to communicate with the student body and administration. He should be concerned about how the school is run in order to make sure the school has its own unique personality. He should be the type of person everyone likes, respects and has confidence in that he will do a good job."

John Himes, junior, ski club

"I think a leader has to be able to communicate with the people. He has to be involved to get things done. He can't be too aggressive. He has to be able to get along with the administration and to be able to compromise and he should realize he won't be able to please everyone."

Dean Holland, junior, baseball

"A person that's been in school two or three years and realizes the changes that should be made to make school enjoyable. He should relate to everyone not to just one group. He should be concerned not with just one or two activities but all the activities throughout the school, and he should definitely be willing to work hard."

Nick Zeitvogel, sophomore, hockey

"Someone who is going to talk to the students and find out what they want and who will work hard to get things done."

One who is friendly and tries to know people. The hardest job for a leader is trying to please everyone. A leader in school usually carries his qualities out of school and makes a good leader."
