Cheering the Maroon & White

BY JOAN M. SMITH

After a number of years without a cheerleading team at Nazareth Academy, the school during recent weeks has been the site of exuberant acrobatics and loud cheering. Making up for lost time, the newly organized cheering squad, under the direction of English teacher Marylee Skelly, has been creating, coordinating and practicing their routines. Their enthusiasm has reached all the way to the Little Irish of Aquinas whom they'll be cheering for during the 1977-78 sports season.

Thirty-four girls turned out for the tryouts in August. Qualifying requirements included performing a standard cheer, creating one, participating in sideline cheers and being judged on their enthusiasm and ability to control motions.

Finally, the lucky 13 were chosen and not only are they cheering for the Nazareth and Aquinas teams but they have their eye on the New York Cheerleading Tournament at Rochester Institute of Technology in the Spring.

They are being led in that direction by their experienced coach, Marylee Skelly, who has directed both the St. Margaret Mary's and Pop Warner Irondequoit Viking squads and both groups won competition trophies. She also has attended clinics presented by the National Cheerleading Association.

In discussing her coaching duties she said, "I'm here to keep it well coordinated so it doesn't look like a mishmash of things."

Though the team is new it is not without experienced members like Sandy Damelio who cheered for Holy Family, Judy Zimmer for the Tenth Ward Tigers, Mary Cypressi, Most Precious Blood, Monica and Martha Culligan who cheered for Holy Rosary. In fact, most members have had some cheerleading experience and some of them share their expertise with other squads like the Greece Chargers.

Martha, Judy and Monica bear the extra weight of teammates Terry, Mary and Ann as they demonstrate one of their sideline cheers.

Other team members are: Mary Enright, Lori Cocilova (cocaptains), Terry Merola, Carol Montanerella, Ann Lupiani, Dawn Coccia, Jean Lally, and Mary Ann DiNardo.

Not only have the girls been working hard to perfect their routine but they have also been involved in making their uniforms which consist of a maroon and white skirt and matching sweater complete with the N and A double emblem.

The girls agreed it is going to be an exciting football season complete with pep rallys. But their efforts will not stop with the last football game. They'll still be cheering through the basketball and soccer seasons.

According to their coach, there is a difference in cheering for football and basketball. The routines for the former are more sideline cheers whereas during the basketball games the girls are able to indulge in fancier formations.

Squad member Carol noted that being a cheerleader makes you more coordinated while her classmate, Mary Enright stated, "I like cheering because I like sports."

Sports are a big interest to the girls not only in the participating — they play baseball, basketball and tennis. Their other interests cover a wide range of activities, dancing, typing, piano lessons, playing the guitars and drums.

COACH SKELLY

One thing is certain. If spirited enthusiasm has anything to do with victory, then the Nazareth cheerleaders should mean a winning season for Aquinas.
