St. Stanislaus to Have Music in the Vernacular

Folk music from Poland will rise in praise of God Saturday evening at St. Stanislaus Church. The hymns at Father Alexander Stec's 7 p.m. Mass April 29 will be set to polka and waltz tunes.

"It will be a sing-along, led by a choir of polka fans," Stephanie Stenclik said. "Probably the first Polka Mass in the diocese, but they are common all over the United States. People raise their eyebrows at the name, but there's no dancing or hollering, of course; it's very very dignified and solemn, inspirational, emotional.

Ray Serafin's orchestra will accompany the singers.

At 9 p.m., in the church hall, the Holy Name Society will put on one of its biennial dances, with a recording band from Palmer, Mass.

Mrs. Stenclik and her husband, John, have taken in a number of "polka weekends," in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Connecticut, and have heard of such gatherings in many other places.

Artist Puts Mumford On Art-World Map

Tim O'Donnell of Mumford is putting his hometown on the art-world map. Landscapes and portraits reflecting his rural Monroe County background were included in a show of his work this month in Burbank, California; and that isn't all.

Tim's aunt, Helen McCarvey of St. Boniface parish, mentioned that he sold, "for quite a little money," a couple of prints to a fabulous television personality. The subject was what Mumford people call "the diving tree" at a deep place in Oatka Creek.

The exhibit of O'Donnell's drawings, paintings and prints was at the Walt Disney Studios, where the artist has worked for the past three years. His training began at Caledonia-Mumford High School, from which he was graduated in 1966. He received a degree in art and art history in 1974, at SUNY Potsdam. In intervening years, he worked as a mapping draftsman for Rochester Gas and Electric, and then, as draftsman drafted, polished his skills in an Army technical institute.

Tim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen O'Donnell of Mumford.
