

St. Joseph's Dedicates New Church Hall

Bishop Hogan blesses the new St. Joseph's Church Hall, as Father Gerard Guli, parish administrator, assists.

Campbell — At the Mass of Dedication for the new St. Joseph's Church Hall, Bishop Joseph L. Hogan called on the parishioners to "dedicate yourselves to thankfulness," noting that "this is the way you sustain and build up community."

There are "not enough people in this world who have dedicated themselves to gratefulness," he pointed out.

His remarks were especially appropriate for the occasion, when the parishioners of St. Joseph's were thanking one of its families for the donation the hall represents, which itself

Students' Work

More than 4,000 junior and senior high school students will assemble at St. John Fisher College May 24 and 25 for the annual Science Exploration Days. Holography, solar energy, earthquakes and rocketry are among the phenomena for which 100 demonstrations and exhibits have been prepared.

The event is sponsored by the Central Western Section of the State Science Teachers Association. Area colleges, industries, scientific societies and government agencies participate. A special demonstration session, free and open to the public, is scheduled for 6:30-9:30 p.m. May 24.

The new parish hall was paid for by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pollio Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pollio Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. G. William Calascione, dedicated to the memory of Anna and Albert Pollio.

"I want to thank especially the Pollio family" for their generosity, Bishop Hogan noted in his homily. He added that the hall will be a great memorial to their parents, and will be useful for many years in the parish's programs.

More than 200 parishioners filled St. Joseph's Church for the special dedication Mass. Afterwards, the congregation greeted Bishop Hogan, and participated in dedication ceremonies and a dinner in the new hall, which adjoins the church on Main Street in the village.

The hall, built in a style to conform with the church, has access directly from the church, as well as a barrier-free entrance from the street. A kitchen on one side of the main room in the hall will provide facilities for such events as the dedication dinner, and the hall includes sufficient space for more than 200.

'Grandparents' At Convention

Forty volunteers in the Monroe County Foster Grandparent Program went today to Liberty, in the Catskills, for a three-day meeting at Grossinger's Hotel. The program, six years old in this state, functions under ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer service. The May 24-26 conference will feature training sessions in the areas of child development, the profoundly retarded and volunteer work in classrooms.

The local "grandparents"—aged 60 to 86—work in elementary schools and several day-care centers, the Monroe Developmental Center and the State School at Industry. Lewis Street Center is the sponsoring agency.
