Fight Hunger . . . . . 29

The folks at Our Lady of Mercy Church again this year are holding their Hunger Bazaar, to raise funds for the world's needy. The annual event is believed to be the only such in the diocese. Over the last four years the parish has raised more than $7,000.

Women Emerge . . . . . 18

The new woman is an informed one, so say the seniors who are taking the "Emerging Woman" course taught by Ms. Betty Geen at St. Agnes High School. But the students, in conducting an outside survey about women's liberation and ERA sentiments, discovered many people weren't informed on the meaning and impact of either subject.

Bishops List Priorities . 11

A year-long program of social action has been drawn up by the state's bishops. They will give special attention to the problems of families, cities, education and communication.

Divorced Are Topic . . . 11

Father James Young, the Paulist priest who is nationally known for his work among the divorced and separated Catholics has been slated by the Office of Family Life here to speak on that ministry. Father Young heads an organization of more than 500 groups of divorced and separated Catholics in North America.

More Twins! . . . . . 19

What's it like being a twin? Mary Beth O'Brien, RapAround coordinator from Notre Dame in Elmira, decided to find out and interviewed four sets of twins who are members of the school's freshman class. The twins all thought their situation great but agreed that their one negative reaction is over some peoples' assumption that, because they are twins, they do everything the same. Not so, they declared.

Major Accord Reached .12

A major accord over the issue of papal infallibility has been reached in a dialogue between U.S. Catholics and Lutherans. A statement expressing that accord has been published by the group engaged in the talks.

Pope From 1

The Pope temporarily reappointed Cardinal Jean Villot as Vatican secretary of state and suggested that Cardinal Villot's successor will be an Italian.

The role of secretary of state was redefined by Pope Paul VI and today it is basically chief of staff to the Pope himself.

In a letter from the Pope to the French cardinal released by the Vatican, it was evident that Cardinal Villot offered to resign and suggested an Italian replacement "given the present circumstances." The last phrase apparently refers to Pope John Paul being the first non-Italian in the papacy in 455 years.

"We have sincerely appreciated your gesture of total flexibility, which does you honor," the Pope wrote, "but we consider, after much reflection, that for the initial period of our pontificate it is our duty to have recourse to your valid work."

Meanwhile, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt has invited the new pontiff to visit his country and pray on historic Mount Sinai after the signing of an Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

Shafiq Abdel Hamid, the Egyptian ambassador to the Vatican, said Pope John Paul had "expressed a great interest" in the invitation. The Vatican said it has no official information on it.

President Sadat has indicated he will build a mosque, church and synagogue on Mount Sinai when Israeli troops withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula according to the Camp David agreements. The Sinai has been under Israeli occupation since 1967.

Mount Sinai is revered by Christians, Moslem, and Jews. According to the Old Testament, Moses received the Ten Commandments on Mount Sinai.
