

Lebanese Children 'Desperate' for Aid

For the second time in less than two weeks, the Catholic Near East Welfare Association has issued an urgent plea for funds to feed and house the "thousands of children homeless and without parents in Lebanon."

The calls, in the form of Mailgrams, were issued by Msgr. John Nolan, director of the New York City-based relief society. He calls the situation in Lebanon "desperate beyond words."

He also notes that the society's office in Beirut guarantees that all help will reach the neediest directly, without overhead costs.

Msgr. Nolan further notes that any contributions are tax-deductible if sent to the society. The group's address is Catholic Near East Welfare Association, 1011 First Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022.

In closing one of his pleas, Msgr. Nolan wrote, "For God's sake please help!"

Parish Plans Dinner For Seniors

A special "Appreciation Evening" to honor parishioners 65 and older has been planned at St. Francis of Assisi parish in Rochester.

The Sacrament of Anointing will be administered at a 5 p.m. Mass Saturday, Nov. 11. After the Mass dinner will be served for all the senior citizens of the parish at no charge. Anyone wishing to attend should call 436-6693.

Dr. Boike To Speak Nov. 10

The Finger Lakes Association of Catholic School Principals are having their annual Teachers' Conference, Friday, Nov. 10, at St. Mary's School in Canandaigua. Dr. Dennis Boike, a noted psychotherapist, lecturer and counselor, will speak on "Discipline in the Classroom without Tyranny or Tears".

Dr. Boike received his PhD at Florida State University and has taught at the various colleges in the Rochester area. He has delivered lectures to adult civic, scholastic and church groups on marital enrichment, child-rearing, human sexuality, alcoholism and the family and contemporary morality. He has also given individual counseling services to a broad spectrum of persons.
