'SNO FUN ... OR IS IT?

The good Sisters of Mercy manage to reflect joy despite the extremes of weather which have been buffeting the area. Here they confront last week's snowstorm with good-natured perseverance and seeming optimism.

All men, and women, are created equal when it comes to dealing with winter snowstorms. At the Sisters of Mercy Motherhouse, the maintenance staff clears the parking lot and steps but the Sisters help where needed. Sister Barbara Guarino, above, clears off windshield before departing for St. Helen's in Gates where she is Religious Education coordinator. At left, Sister Mary Perpetua McHale salts steps before heading for her job at St. Patrick's in Victor where she is Religious Education coordinator. Sister Margaret Deegan, liturgy coordinator at St. Jerome's in East Rochester, clears the sidewalk, upper right; Sister Margaret Mary Wintish, right, recovering from a broken foot, uses a crutch as she leaves for work at St. Andrew's where she is a tutor.
