

Winners

Despite valiant efforts to lose, the student team defeated the faculty team 67-61 in a basketball game that was part of Conring Catholic School South's observance of Catholic Schools Week. The faculty led most of the way, but fell behind in the fourth quarter, despite intentionally wild shots by the students, and as many as eight players for the faculty team being on the floor at the same time. Each basket caused a chorus of cheers as the entire student body got involved in the game.

CWV's Terrigino 'Man of Year'

Michael Terrigino has been named the "Catholic War Veterans Man of the Year." Terrigino's award was made during the course of the 32nd annual convention banquet of the Monroe County chapter of the veterans' group.

Also revealed at the convention was the selection of Urban Kress as this year's "Catholic Layman of the Year." Kress was chosen because of "his service to St. Andrew's Church, and his terms of office with the City Council and the Monroe County Board of Supervisors," James O'Connor, organization spokesman said last week.

Kress will be presented with
