Equal Time

What do you consider an important item from the 70s which should be placed in a time capsule and saved for future generations?

AQUINAS

JIM WILLIAMS

"Newsreels because they will show the facts and what it's really like in the 70s. Not just national news but the local newsreels because they are important, showing the effects of events on local society. Everything is changing so fast. In fact things are so different from just 10 years ago they'll really be different in say about 100 years."

FRANK VULA J
yearbook photographer

"Movies depicting the 70s. The only way we can show the people of the future about our society and what it really is like is through the movies. They are the best way to show them and the movies which should be included are 'Star Wars' and 'Animal House'."

BILL McHUGH

"Books because they show through stories how people are different and what they've been doing and the different ideas that people deal with through their imaginations. One book to be included is 'Catcher in the Rye'. I think all books by all types of authors should be included not just those from the 70s."

TOM BASCH
Senior
baseball

"There should be a booktype of thing written which shows the different aspects of society and the technological advances of the 60s and 70s. The moral aspect is important. Peoples' values mostly because the laws will follow the values. The way people think is representative of any society as a whole."

MARK CONTESTABLE
Senior

"A personal photograph book along with a diary of events. The pictures will be a visual representation of the lifestyles and the diary a written explanation of the friendships. I think it should be more of a personal record which would give people of the future a look at the people of our age as individuals."

MICHAEL DALEY
Senior

"Music because it shows the basic feelings and emotions of many artists and the artists of the time depict the emotions and values of society. Music depicts the lifestyle which is prevalent in the 70s like disco and hard rock symbolizing the youth movement."

SAMUEL CUPELLO
Junior

"Newspapers. All the different kinds of papers because they have stories about people and they show how certain parts of the world are better off than others. They tell how people make it in the world and show how they live in different parts of the world."

TIM STONE
Senior

"A portfolio of U.S. clothing. Fashions show the lifestyle and people's personalities. By what is worn, you can tell what a society is really like. It should be a variety of clothing from the lower classes as well as the upper classes. Clothing styles change and they change because of people's attitudes."

Sports Who's Who

Ray Higgins scored a shorthanded breakaway goal with one second to play as Bishop Kearney (8-6-3) upset second-place Irondequoit, 6-5, in Monroe County Hockey League action at Lakeshore Rinks last week.

McQuaid ices (16-0), ranked sixth in the state, crushed Aquinas (6-10) at RIT last week, 14-0. Mike Shane scored three goals for the Knights and Chip Kitchen, Jim Post and John Shane each added two.

Football Notes — Second team all-state selections Dave Roberson (McQuaid tight end) and John Cocilova (Aquinas linebacker) announced they won't be attending college in the fall. Roberson will attend prep school first and Cocilova plans to work for a year before starting school, probably at the University of Rochester.

Cocilova's teammate, fullback Bob Paternico will try to win a scholarship the hard way — as a walk on. He's applied to Syracuse, Maryland, Penn State and West Virginia. College recruiters backed off after his knee injury last fall.

The Cardinal Mooney basketball team didn't pull any Cinderella magic this year as they lost their last regular season game to Rush-Henrietta Sperry, 61-46. The Cardinals (8-10 this year) pulled off the biggest upset during last year's sectionals when they defeated the highly-ranked Comets in the second round.

McQuaid captured its sixth straight City Catholic League wrestling championship, defeating Edison, 40-18. Pins by Rob Starkweather, Ray Schey and Phil Lanzatella highlighted the win. Lanzatella completed the season with a perfect 24-0 record. The Knights finished 5-0 in the league and 10-3 overall.

GRAD-NOTE — Jeff Weston (ex-Mooney), senior at the University of Notre Dame, is anxiously awaiting the upcoming pro football draft. It is speculated that Weston will be drafted between the third and fifth rounds.

Fast Start to Slump — Mercy Team Undaunted

By TERRANCE J. BRENNAN

When Mercy started the season in the Private-Parochial Basketball League, nobody expected them to jump right out and win their first six contests. But since that super start, the team has dropped their last four games.

Coach Dick Myers believes that the string of losses has helped his team keep its feet on the ground.

"We've lost our last three games by a total of six points. Being a fairly young team, the slump has been rough for some of the girls to handle.

"I've told them after each of the close losses that if we can learn from our mistakes in that particular game, then that should help us at the end of the year. It's better that we experience the slump here rather than at the end of the season."

Mercy doesn't boast a particularly tall team, Myers says, but his offense relies on outside shooting power.

"Against teams in our own league, we use a 1-3-1 offense and try to hit the wings. We've got two good scorers from the outside and when they're open, they're going to score."

Myers refers to senior Michelle Miller and sophomore Anne Murphy. Murphy leads the team in scoring with a 14 point average.

"In the beginning," Myers explained, "when we got off to the great start, we were confident enough to handle anyone. We played a very good game against Penfield, who I feel is a good, tall county team, and we beat them by some twenty points. Then this past week, we played against Brighton, who I thought was a weaker team than Penfield, and they beat us by one point. So, it's kind of an up and down thing and I hope we can swing it back."

Mercy is in a division with five other teams. Of those five, only the top two will make the sectional playoffs. Myers feels strongly that his squad can win at least seven of their remaining eight games and clinch a berth in the post-season championships.

"I'd say that, if we play our game like we did early in the year, we're a match for anyone," Myers said.

"If we go into the sectionals with a 14-4 or a 13-5 record, then we'll probably be seeded tenth or so and as a result might come up against a good team right away. Then we'll really have to be on our game."

Pending their escape from the slump, Mercy's chances in the sectionals are endless, but Myers also looks forward to even better things from his charges in the years to come.

"We'll be very strong in the future as our backcourt matures," Myers said, "We've got some good people to fill the holes left by graduation."

"I think we're going to have a good year, this year, and I think we'll challenge Mooney for first place, but next year and the year after, we'll be much stronger."
