

The cast enjoys the view from the Space Platform.

"City Streets," a musical describing the life of Rochester teenagers, will be performed at Monroe High School, 164 Alexander St. at 8 p.m., April 27 and 28, and May 4 and 5. Staging the production is the Upstairs Youth Ministry of St. Augustine's and St. Monica's parishes.

with help from Sue Schramm, Eric Falla and Ken Sarkis. The music was totally written by Anthony Falzano, a youth minister with Upstairs. Sister Sheila Walsh coordinated and produced the show and Richard Hommel is director. Cheryl Schaefer directed the choral work and Rose Tishler of Limelight Dance Studio choreographed the production.

The original musical pay centers on that time after high school graduation and the pursuit of college, jobs or whatever. It is a current look at how teenagers deal with the good times and dilemmas provided by the new freedom. It covers the span from graduation until the class's five-year reunion.

Thirty-eight teenagers from 12 area high schools and colleges are in the cast and parents and friends volunteered to help.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for students and senior citizens. They may be purchased at St. Monica's or St. Augustine's parish offices or by contacting Beverly Deutsch at 621-6549.

"City Streets" was written by Rochester teenagers Dawn Fullerton and Kathy Ward, City Streets on city streets.

Cast members go through a dance number.