What's your favorite pastime?"
ST. AGNES

EILEEN SULLIVAN
Junior
tennis

"Tennis because it feels good to be outside and competing and watching other people. I've been playing about three years. My mother got me interested in the game. I like to ski and all sports. When kids see all their friends doing something they become interested in it and then from there they develop other interests. There's enough for them to do but they can't sit back and wait for it."

KATHY SMITH

"I swim and play volleyball but my favorite is volleyball. It's a team effort in which each individual effort counts. I like listening to music on the radio. There's a great deal of kids who get involved but there are many who are too shy to belong to anything. You also get the cliques that get involved."

To get the kids interested in activities, talking to them like in a personal recruitment program would help."

JAN HUCK
Freshman

"I like to read love stories and take care of my guinea pig, Harry. I like to camp. These things are a form of relaxation and they keep me busy. I think most kids have enough to keep them busy. I became interested in reading from having to read in school and then do book reports."

LAURIE PEAKE
Freshman

"Listening to the radio, watching TV, reading and drawing. I draw to relax. I watch TV if I'm feeling down and it makes me feel better. Listening to the radio keeps me from being bored. I like to read the best and prefer mystery and horror stories."

Freshman

"I like taking my dog Dusty for a walk because it gives me a chance to relax and be with her. I like to read books about horses. During the summer my family and I head out West and go camping for three weeks. I would say that most kids today enjoy doing something."

KIM FISCHER
4-H Club

"Horseback riding — I have a friend in Brockport with a horse and I also ride with the 4-H Club. I've been interested in riding since I was six. I also belong to the Civil Air Patrol. We drill and hold aerospace and leadership classes. When I get out of high school or college I want to join the air force. I also play the piano."

JOANNE MAZUREK
ski club

"Skiing because it is a challenge. I like to be outside and with other people. I also like to bike ride — anything with the outdoors. I also like to go to soccer games to enjoy the rowdiness of the crowds. I like to listen to music — mellow rock — especially to Billy Joel. There's a lot of kids that are involved in outside activities."

AFEE FERRARI
Junior
Girls Athletic Association

"I like most sports. I like to play softball and watch baseball especially the Yankees. I like playing sports for the exercise. I'm interested in finding out about mysteries especially the occult I think kids have enough to keep them busy with school and their outside activities."

Father William O'Malley from McQuaid, entertained the Mercy community with his portrayal of the "Cellophane Man" from Chicago. Freshman, Christine Elliot, one of the many students who performed, gave a violin recital.

Arts Festival Montage

Last week, Mercy High students were treated to a variety of creative entertainment. From Wednesday through Friday, in the auditorium, there were continuous performances by pianists, singers, violinists, flutists, mimes, comedians and dancers.

Visiting artists included Jesse Babb, folk guitarist; Flash in the Pan comedy group; Cynthia Carr and Bob Woodwind Quintet from the Eastman School of Music. The Desmond Penrose Irish Dancers and the McQuaid Glee Club.

Mercians also lent their talents to the enjoyment of the school community: sophomore Linda Wojciechowski sang; Patty Forward and Janet Patton combined their guitar and singing abilities; Katie Oberlies presented monologue and Tanya Mayadas performed a classical piano recital.

Winner

Kathleen Laffey, sophomore at Bishop Kearney, was the recipient of the Winner's Circle $5 for the week of April 25.

Optimistic AQ Tees Off to a Good Season

Don't try explaining the "agony of defeat" to the members of the Aquinas Institute golf team. They've been there before. Last season the team was winless in ten outings.

This year, however, the Little Irish are working on

Students To Attend Program

Forty-three St. Agnes students along with teachers Sister Marjorie and Mrs. Dollinger will be participating in the Foreign Language Day at St. Bonaventure University on May 14. Some of the girls will be competing in six categories: cultural exhibits, language presentation, dramatic essay writing, international foods, songs and dance.

Others will participate in sing-alongs, and as tabulators, hostesses and distributors of cultural materials.

Fisher Holds Library Seminar

Recently, Mrs. Annmarie Van Son's AP History class at St. Agnes participated in a St. John Fisher College program focusing on how to use a large library. Following several lectures and tours, the students were given ten questions which had to be answered by using the library resources. The Fisher library will be available for the rest of the school year to the students who attended the series.

Food Project Result of Talk

Recently, the Nazareth National Honor Society invited Mrs. Maureen Havens, staff member for the Southwest Ecumenical Mission, to address them on the need for adequate food to be distributed among Rochester's poor. Mrs. Havens, a graduate of Nazareth, administers the Southwest Ecumenical Food Cupboard. She is also employed by Action for a Better Community, where she works in the Nutrition Department. Her presentation impressed the girls with the need for food donations and it challenged them to respond to that need.

The response was a school wide food drive planned and executed by the Society. For two weeks, girls in each homeroom brought in everything from baby food to spam and rice. This project made the student body aware of the important role each of them could play in meeting this most fundamental need getting accustomed to the flip side of the well-earned phrase, "The thrill of victory."

In their season opener, the Little Irish defeated Honeye-Falls-Lima, 219-227, and did it on HF-L's home course, Lima Country Club. Aquinas coach Joe Lester praises his group but not solely for the victory.

"These kids have been so good about it (numerous losing seasons) that I couldn't be happier for them," said Lester. "They're just a great bunch of kids and they all have super attitudes."

Looking even farther back beyond last season's 0-10 record, Lester recalled Aquinas' best previous mark as being two years ago when the team registered a 2-4-1 record.

Lester, who has coached the squad for five years, feels that the school's locale could be a slight disadvantage compared to other teams in the Catholic Golf League, McQuaid, Cardinal Mooney and Bishop Kearney all attract students from the suburbs and surrounding towns of Rochester, where, according to Lester, "the kids might have easier access to have played the game before."

The team does get out twice a week to practice, though, and plays their matches Mondays and Fridays. Brook-Lea and Braemar Country Clubs are used by the Little Irish as their home courses.

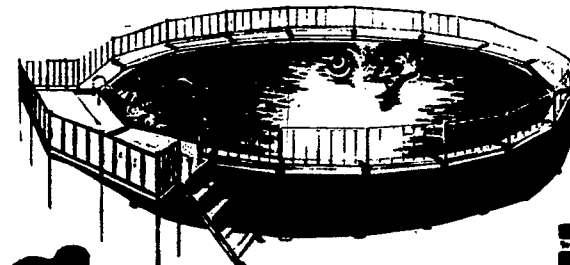

Lester relies on four returning starters to carry his squad, but also has come upon some talent from the class of 1982. Returning juniors Kevin Mills and Joe Viscardi led Aquinas over HF-L by carding 42's over the nine-hole layout, while Mike Nuccitelli and Dave Abbate had 45's. Michael Saba, a fine freshman player, shot 45 also. Other members of the team are senior Joe Borrelli and freshmen Bob Bell and Mark Castaldo.

"Winning the opener is a great feeling," said Lester. "And if we could win five out of ten matches this year, it would be the best record this school has had in years."
