Pep Rally, Papal-Style

To the cheers of "Rack 'em up, stack 'em bust 'em in two, Holy Father, we're for you", Pope John Paul II wowed the 19,000 young people who turned out to greet him at Madison Square Garden in New York. The Pope, taking time to work into his itinerary a visit with youth, underscored the importance of young people. He told them, "People have placed a lot of hope in you. And they now look forward to your collaboration in giving witness to Christ and in transmitting the Gospel to others. The church needs you. The World needs you, because it needs Christ and you belong to Christ." Courier-Journal photographer, Terrance Brennan, covered the event and while clicking away, found a contingent of students from Notre Dame High School, Elmira. In next week's RapAround, Terry will report on their experiences while seeing and hearing the Pope.

St. Agnes News

The St. Agnes magazine drive will begin, Oct. 12, with an assembly, "Muppets in Magland", and continue to Oct. 26. The school's goal is $30,000 and if reached, students will be allowed out of uniform for a week. Each girl who reaches her quota during the drive will be allowed out of uniform for the remainder of the drive.

The anniversary dream goal (St. Agnes is celebrating its 40th) is $40,000. If this goal is reached there will be two days off as a reward.

Shareholder's Day, Sept. 28, featured a modeling and yoga demonstration, an Olympiad, and a student-faculty basketball game.

The Olympiad which was to have been outside was moved into the gym because of the weather. Competition was between the classes and featured a tug-of-war and obstacle course. The sophomores were the winners in these events while the faculty beat the students, by a slim margin, in the basketball game.

The school's Glee Club is soliciting Blue Boy labels in order to buy sheet music. Each label is worth five cents and anyone wanting to help is asked to send the labels to Mrs. Marguerite Manning, director of the Glee Club.

Mrs. Gray, Home Economics teacher, won a recipe contest ($15 gift certificate) sponsored by the Brighton-Pittsford Shopper. Her winning recipe was for stuffed haddock and it is the second such contest she has won.
