A long line of Cambodian refugees await their turn for food at Aranyaprathet Camp in Thailand. Some of the food being distributed in the Thai camps has been provided by Catholic Relief Services and Oxfam, the private British based agency.

Cambodia Response

In response to the plea made last week by Cardinal Terence Cooke and President Jimmy Carter, parishes in the Diocese of Rochester have been asked to send funds collected for relief of persons trapped in the tragedy of Cambodia to:

Cambodian Relief
123 East Ave.
Rochester, N.Y. 14604

Locally, the collection of funds is a joint project of the diocesan Missions Office and the diocesan International Justice and Peace Commission.

Fashion Show To Aid Student

Kaliedescope of Fashion, a special morning program which will aid a dental student, sponsored by the Women's Dental Auxiliary of the 7th District of the Dental Society of New York State, will be held at the Genesee Crossroads Holiday Inn on Thursday, Nov. 15.

The brunch and show of fashions from Sibley's starts at 10:30 a.m. Special foods, cooked without sugars, preservatives or chemical additives, based on recipes to be found in the auxiliary's cookbook, Silver Recipes, will be served.

According to Rose Carauana of the auxiliary, tickets to the show are available at Sibley's. Copies of the cookbook are available at Pantastick and at Cable-Wiedemer in Brighton.

Business in Diocese

James G. Mroczek, former supervisor of group homes at St. Joseph's Villa, has been appointed executive director of the Association for Retarded Citizens, an agency which is serving 350 clients a day at the Al Sigl Center on Elmwood Avenue, plus 110 in their own or foster homes. Mroczek, a Rochesterian, has a business administration degree from St. John Fisher College and an MA in social work from the University of Buffalo.

Dr. Quentin Fisher has been added to the staff of Family Health Associates, a group of physicians associated with St. Mary's Hospital. Dr. Fisher, who will be with the pediatrics staff, will spend three days a week at the FHA offices at 3161 Union St., North Chili.

A Long Island native, Dr. Fisher received his medical degree from the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn in 1972. He completed a pediatric internship in Richmond, Va., and participated in a public health fellowship program in Israel.
