Editor:

On Oct. 14, fifteen Greece community churches sponsored the Greece Breadwalk to raise money for CROP, the hunger appeal of Church World Services.

With the assistance of God, the Greece School District, the Greece Police Department, the ministers, youth groups, members of congregations acting as volunteers, the residents who sponsored the walkers, the parochial schools, this newspaper and most of all the walkers, the day turned out to be beautifully brisk, joyous and successful.

We, the Breadwalk Steering Committee, wish to thank all those who in any way assisted us. We wholeheartedly congratulate all of the walkers. You not only raised money to feed the hungry, but you also supported self-help programs which give dignity to human beings. God bless you all.

Sr. Theresa 'Insubordinate'

Editor:

It was announced that Mother Teresa had won the Nobel Peace Prize for her work in Calcutta.

I am a Catholic laywoman and it seems to me that this honor is not only well deserved, but that it should serve as a reminder to all of us of what the religious life ought to be about.

I am convinced that if noisy, querulous nuns like Sister (Theresa) Kane were to experience some of the real pain and misery of a great proportion of God's people, they would count their innumerable blessings and get on with God's work, instead of pursuing their own ambitions.

As a woman I have never felt the need to compete with men. I always thought that if God blessed us with the right to become mothers, then He could make men priests, and even things up a little.

I was appalled at the audacity of this person claiming to speak for women. She certainly never asked me, or dozens like me. That she was so insubordinate to God's representative on earth took not courage, just a lot of gall.

'Be Sober, Be Watchful'

Editor:

Re: John Bodensteiner's letter (9/19/79).

The theme of Pope John Paul II's recent address to the faithful of Jasna Gora,

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

Poland, was "Be sober, be watchful." For your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, goes about seeking someone to devour. And, "Christ addresses severe words to those who give scandal... Be sober, be watchful!"

The Church teaches that two elements of eternal punishment in hell are (1) eternal, bitter separation from God, with self-hatred, and (2) suffering pain of sense by eternal fire.

Increasing growth in demonism occasioned Pope Paul VI's longest and most forceful exposition of the devil: "The Devil is a living, spiritual being, perverted and perverting."

Today, it is difficult to escape from the visible evidence of the supernatural intelligence of Lucifer and his legions of devils. Many priests, and most conspicuously lay-image men have been seduced into inordinate pride.

Is it not shocking that now some nuns have ordained themselves priests and celebrate (?) the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Through supernatural intelligence, Lucifer and his fallen angels have gradually transformed the faith of the majority of consecrated priests, religious and laity. These have assimilated the scandalous infestation of false and fraudulent ministers and teachers. No longer seeing and hearing

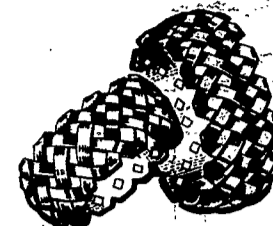

Our Lord clearly, they continue to address the false and fraudulent as "Father," "Sister," and "Brother." Who can hear Our Lord speaking through His Vicar: "Be sober; be watchful!"

TRANT'S INC.

These are the days of shortages, delays and high prices. The religious goods industry is not unlike the others. Without seeming to rush the season, we would like to advise you well in advance. Advent starts on December 2. When supplies are exhausted there is the likelihood that time will not permit reordering the seasonal items.

ADVENT: We carry the Wreaths, refill candles and devotional booklets as well as the always popular advent calendars.

CHRISTMAS: For the strictly religious boxed cards, we are the main supply. Presently, we have a vast selection. Included are such names as: Abbey press, Conception, Paramount, Reproduct, and Mainzer. We like to believe, that you will not find anywhere such a large selection of Nativity sets a Trant's carries. Since religious gifts are the most appropriate for this time of year, we have items for everyone on your shopping list.
