Sport Honor Shared

Four sport star Becky Kaltenbach from Mercy High School and Ann Keenan from Cardinal Mooney have been selected as co-Most Valuable Players in the Private-Parochial, Girls Volleyball League.

It marked the second year in a row that Kaltenbach won or shared the honor from the six league coaches.

Kaltenbach led Mercy to a 9-2 league record that left them tied for first with Mooney. It was her fourth year playing volleyball.

During the school year, she plays softball, basketball, and soccer, in which she has been chosen an all-star this past year, also.

The 5-9 Kaltenbach is considered an excellent spiker and Mercy's whole offense revolved around her. So effective is her game, that Feb. 2, Kaltenbach is going to be at Syracuse University, trying out for a possible scholarship in the sport.

The following is the group of girls chosen to make up the first team all-stars: Bev Zigler, senior, and Ann Darby, junior, from St. Agnes; Ann Zmuidzinas, junior, and Sue Hoffman, senior, from Bishop Kearney; Ann DiFabio, senior, and Sebrina Patterson, junior, from Nazareth Academy; Lisa Scott and Casandra Jackson, both seniors, from Harley-Allendale-Columbia; Liz Mack and Lisa Brown, juniors, and Claire McKay, senior, from Mercy; Betsy Hart and Monica Zorsch, seniors, and Bonnie Brennan, junior, from Cardinal Mooney.

"I'd say Reagan for the Republicans. He did a good job in California. The other candidates aren't qualified but the one draw back with Reagan is his age. For the Democrats — Jerry Brown — he's done a good job in California. Carter hasn't done a good job with our internal problems and Kennedy is just running on his name. I'd vote for Brown because he's doing a good job and he's young and energetic."

MIKE SWAIN

"For the Democrats I'd pick President Carter because of the way he's handling the crisis in Iran. He's done a good job in the four years. The other candidates aren't qualified enough — Kennedy is just living up to his name — Brown is too radical. For the Republican candidate — Reagan — he's had the experience and could be a strong leader. In voting I'd definitely go for Carter because of what he's done in the last four years."

JOE PICCIOTTI
Senior
football captain

"For the Republicans, Ronald Reagan, because of what he's done in California — cut the welfare down — cut expenses. For the Democrats I'd say Jerry Brown only because I feel the other two candidates are weak men and we can't afford to have another weak man in the White House. I'd vote for Reagan because of what he's done in California and I think he's a strong leader."

TIM GAFFNEY
Senior
Student Government

"It's a toss up between Reagan and George Bush for the Republicans. Reagan has been a strong candidate in the past and has shown his views, and Bush has shown that he's interested. I'd say Jerry Brown for the Democrats because I don't like Carter or Kennedy because of their weakness. Based on the information I have now, I'd vote Republican."

MIKE DAS
Sophomore
cross country

"For the Democrats — Carter. I think he should be nominated because of his past record. He's proposed a lot of things that he's tried to carry out. He's handled the Iranian situation well. He's been slow in acting but he's kept the situation in hand. For the Republicans — Anderson because he wouldn't try to be radical and undo things that have already been done. I'd vote for Carter in the election on what he's done and the fact that right now changing presidents wouldn't help the situation."

CHARLES GLAVIN
Junior
Student Government

"On the Republican side I don't like anyone except Anderson who seems to think about what he says. I think the other Republican candidates use Iran to get their comments in against President Carter — Anderson doesn't seem to be using it as a political step. On the Democrats side, I would say Carter. I think he's been handling the situations carefully. He's been taking political action and not military action. I'd vote for Carter because of his experience."

P. K. BRIMSTEIN
Junior
cross country

"For the Democrats I want Carter because he's really honest, sincere and a religious person. He means well for the country. For the Republicans — George Bush because as the one time head of the CIA he knows the government and how it works internally. He seems intelligent — he's well rounded. I'd still stick with Carter in voting because he has the experience which counts. There have been touchy problems he's been dealing with and it would be tough for the country to switch men at this time."

DAVID SCHWARTZBERG
Freshman
indoor track

"For the Republicans I would like to see George Bush nominated because he has better ideas than the other Republicans. I think he's an honest politician. I like Carter for the Democrats because he's experienced. I'd probably vote for Carter — I don't think we can afford to have a new man as president and he's learned a lot."
