

DFC Concert Set For Palm Sunday

Bishop Matthew H. Clark will be in the audience when the Diocesan Festival Choir presents its sixth annual concert of sacred music at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 30, at St. Thomas More Church, 2617 East Ave.

Music written for Holy Week feasts will constitute the program which will open with a choir procession singing an old Palm Sunday hymn, "Lift Up Your Heads, Ye Mighty Gates."

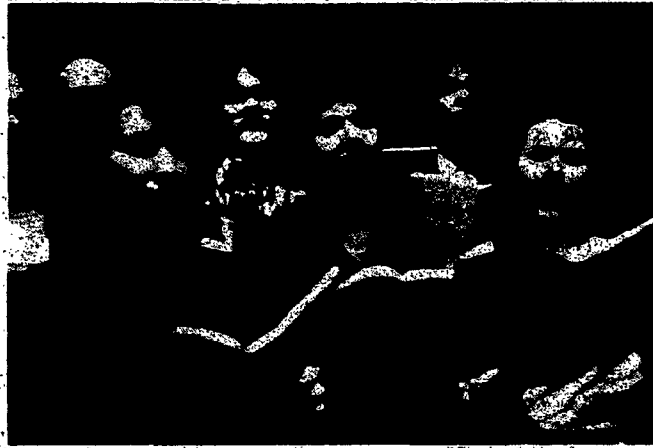

Other works will include the rarely sung Gregorian chant, "Christus factus est," and Bach's cantata 159, "Come and Let Us Go Up to Jerusalem." Dubois' "Seven Last Words of Christ," a sacred cantata for narrator.

Holy Hour

The leader for the Holy Hour from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday, April 14, at Our Lady of Mercy Motherhouse will be the Rev. Mr. George Heyman. The holy hours are scheduled by the Peoples Eucharistic League, Holy Trinity Chapter.

soloists, choir and string ensemble, will be the feature of the program.

Sister Virginia Hogan, SSJ, is director of the choir, which she began in 1975. Soloists will be soprano Sister Barbara Staropoli, SSJ; mezzosoprano Mary Ellen Campbell, SSJ; tenor Bruce Purrinton and bass Paul Rowe.

The DFC performs at last Saturday's Liturgy at the Church of the Resurrection in Fairport.

"Attending the Funeral"
How many times have you heard someone say "I hate to attend funerals?" Quite a few, I imagine - and maybe your own feelings are somewhat the same. However, the funeral service plays a very important part in the acceptance of death. The finality of viewing the body - of attending the funeral - of a friend or loved one clears the mind and releases many emotions, allowing us to face the reality of death. The absence of a proper service - or our lack of attendance - may make it very difficult for us to accept the death.

You've often heard the old saying that "only two things in life are certain - death and taxes." We learn to accept the inescapable taxes - but we don't train ourselves or our children to accept the inevitability of death.

If you are interested in learning to deal with death realistically, please call us. We have several pamphlets and a suggested list of reading that you will find helpful. Use our lending library, audio visual aids, and audio cassettes on dying, death, bereavement and related subjects. We are available for group discussions.
