ND Wrestlers Win Three Championships

Elmira — The Notre Dame Wrestling Team returned from the Section IV, Class C championships with a second-place finish and three individual champions.

Notre Dame scored 125 points in the 10-team wrestle-off, finishing second behind host Newark Valley's 233.5 points.

Individual Crusader champions were Marty Sheehan, 91 pounds; Dave Kreider, 98 pounds; and Dave McBride, 145 pounds. Unlimited wrestler Doug

Wright made it to the finals and then was defeated, finishing in second place.

Those four, along with third place finisher Dan Richardson (215) and fourth place winner Mike Frawley (112), moved on to the inter-sectional qualifier at Union Endicott last weekend.

Also competing for Notre Dame in the Class C tourney were Jay LaBare (105), John Lee (119), Jeff Hamilton (126), Mike Manzo (138), Pete Smith (155) and Dan Dewey (177).

A snow sculpture contest was one of the activities of the sleepover. Here, Alisa Waldron and Shannon Dillon work on the dragon that won them a prize.

Winter Is a Picnic

St. Agnes students found a way to battle the winter blahs. Twenty-three sophomores spent an active overnight in the school library. Sleep, however, wasn't on the agenda.

Instead, entertainment included a talent show in which Jackie Cox and Chris Glavin won first prize for their dance routine from "Fame." There was a PJ fashion show and Colleen Cameron won that event. Hot pizza and Hawaiian punch was on the food menu.

Students played backgammon, Uno, and hide and seek, and then at midnight heralded Marie Lilly with "happy birthday."

At 4 a.m., despite the cry, "You're not going to sleep tonight," things quieted down.

The sleepover was coordinated by Jacki Cox, Cris Glavin, Anne Lootens, and Barb Szembrot. Class moderators are Miss Mary Lou Wenthe and Miss Kathleen Mahoney.
