A New Wave

Communication. Communion. It's at the heart of Christianity.

In times past, the great truths of the church were communicated in stories handed down from parent to child, in great art and architecture, in music and verse.

Today, our tools are the mass media of radio, television, film and print. And satellite.

Let's learn to use them and use them well.

Through effective use of the media, we can reach people where they live in language they understand.

Through support of the Catholic Communication Campaign, you can contribute to the church's effort to proclaim the Gospel through all the media.

It's a New Wave.

Today the bishops urge you to contribute to the Catholic Communication Campaign, an effort to spread the Good News through television, radio and other media.

Please give generously so that our church communications can be worthy of the Lord we serve and whose joy we share.
