Parishes Note Anniversaries

Parishes are celebrating the ordination anniversaries of their priests this month:

St. John the Evangelist in Greece parishioners threw a party June 7 at the Mapledale Party House which included cocktails, dining and dancing, in honor of their pastor, Father Joseph D'Aurizio, celebrating his 25th.

Also last Sunday, parishioners at St. Mary's in Honeoye threw an afternoon reception for their pastor, Father Vincent LeFrois, celebrating his 40th.

Next Sunday, June 14, Father Walter Cushing will be honored by parishioners at St. Cecilia's Parish at a reception following a 12:15 p.m. Mass of Thanksgiving.

All in the Family

The Glory Of Hanging In There

WHEN:

The grocery cashier snarls at me and I'm already low because $25 worth of food fits easily in one bag, and

The youngest says I don't love her because I haven't let anyone sleep over for at least three weeks and

The dog sneers when she finds dog food in her dish, her expression clearly conveying that she likes the kids' handouts better and

I put the tomato plants in the ground and they start turning yellow instead of green and

The oldest says I don't love her because I won't let her wear my best blouse over her jeans and

The birds eat my zinnia seeds faster than I can cover them with dirt and

Our son says I don't love him because I vetoed his plans to turn his bedroom into a neighborhood-gathering place with free food and high decibel music five afternoons a week

THEN
I know things could be better.

WHEN:

The purple and pink petunias take off, spreading their glory beyond the patio tub in which they were planted and

The crooked sycamore tree we bought 8 years ago at a reduced price turns out to be the back yard's crowning glory and

Our son brings home a surprise paper weight bearing my newest pen name which he made in shop and

The baby in the church pew ahead of us turns around and gives us all a magnificent toothless smile and

The oldest pays me a spontaneous, unrehearsed compliment and

Both the head of the house and my father term the beef stew delicious and

My mother remarks that our kids are no worse than any others and

The youngest brings home a bouquet of wild purple and white flowers and bestows them with a kiss.

THEN
I know things are looking up.

Hearing Test Scheduled

The Penfield-Perinton Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the Hearing and Speech Center of Rochester, has initiated a telephone hearing test. Anyone wishing to take the test may do so by dialing 442-7344.

The purpose of this free, ongoing service is to encourage people who think they have difficulty hearing to test themselves at their convenience and in the privacy of their homes," said Joseph Kozelsky, director of audiology at the hearing center.
