Educator To Speak

Dansville — Ron J. Gaetano, one of the nation's outstanding educators and trainers in the field of substance abuse, will speak to parents and teens at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 17, at St. Mary's School Hall, Dansville.

Gaetano will address three areas: conflict and confusion of the adolescent years; health problems, both physical and emotional, that can be caused by the use of marijuana; and how to set up community programs including education and intervention components as alternatives to use of alcohol and drugs.

A pharmacist who has served as a national consultant on the drug problems of adolescents for more than 10 years, Gaetano has been an advisor to the U.S. House of Representatives Select Committee on Narcotics Abuse Control. He is a consultant for the Federal Civil Service Training Commission. He also has served as co-chairman of the National Drug Abuse Conference and as director of a National Model Crisis Intervention program. He currently is vice president of Awarness Media, Inc.

The program is open to the community, and is sponsored by the Adult Education and Human Development committees and the School Board of St. Mary's Parish.

105 Attend Waverly Parent Workshops

Waverly — Sister Clare Marie Bruns, DC, of St. Louis, Mo., recently conducted Parenting Workshops at St. James School.

The four sessions attracted of 105 local residents, an effort which may have led to scheduling of another session next year.

The first workshop was an outline of the course "Children and Challenge." Sister Clare pointed out that in raising children, the second greatest commandment to "love your neighbor as you love yourself" is important. It is necessary to respect children to gain their respect and cooperation, she said.

The second evening's subject was a discussion on the family constellation. The fact of whether a person is a first child, middle child, or baby of the family plays an important role in how each member of a family relates to the others.

The third and fourth sessions were on communications. Sister Elizabeth, also of St. Louis, assisted Sister Clare by leading the sessions. They performed skits designed to help parents understand how to react to such incidents as a teenager coming home late, a toddler who won't eat or go to bed without a fuss, or a child coming home saying, "I hate school."

Jana Howell, chairperson for the workshops, said, "Most of us have only our parents to model ourselves by. We either have the attitude 'I'm going to be just like my parents,' or 'I'm not going to raise my kids like I was raised.'" She noted few parents have received any parenting education.

Following the four workshops, she reports, many expressed the desire to take the "Children and Challenge" course which had been introduced to them.

As a result, St. James School is looking for funding to pay for the program early next year.

"This is just one way St. James can reach out to the community and be more than a Catholic School," Ms. Howell said.

THE GIFT THAT SAYS "I LOVE YOU"

THE HOLY FATHER'S MISSION AID TO THE ORIENTAL CHURCH

WHAT YOU
OTHERS
HIM

Christmas is Christ's Birthday. To show Him you love Him, sacrifice something for His poor! In Malia, India, the Sisters of Mercy conduct a home for 80 girls from only the poorest families. When the home opened in 1977, the girls were housed in a farm shed — terribly overcrowded and unsafe, even by Indian standards. The Directress, Sister Gracian, asks $3,000 to build a decent home. Won't you give these girls, who are burdened by poverty, a home for Christmas? . . . Refugee families in miserable camps can be kept in milk, cheese, flour, for only $20 a month. Remind us, if you feed a family for a month, to send you an Olive Wood Rosary as our thank-you. . . . Christ's Birthday is just weeks away. Your gift to the missions says to Him, "I love You." . . . What are "the missions"? They are people, not place-names. They are leprosy, and cancer sufferers, the blind, the aged, foundlings, homeless refugees. They are the people for whom Christ became an infant, and was crucified. What you do for the hungry, the shivering, the abandoned, He said, you do for Him. . . . How to celebrate Christ's Birthday? Do something for the poor! We'll send your gifts (tax deductible in the U.S., of course) to the Holy Father. He'll use them exactly as you request.
