A Treat Is In Store At Dinner

The Cardinal Mooney Women's Guild will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 26. The evening will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. The dinner program will highlight Brother David Parrish who will demonstrate hors d'oeuvres preparation and garnishing.

Reservations can be made by contacting Mary Ellen Hetzler at 621-5505, or Patricia Proud at 225-7672. Reservations must be made by Jan. 22.

made by Sister Ann William Bradley, president of St. Mary's.

The funds to be raised from private, business and industrial sources will be used to provide equity for the borrowing of $30 million through the sale of tax-exempt bonds.

Objectives of the modernization include the complete renovation of all patient care areas, an addition to house surgical suites for in-patient surgery, a relocated and expanded critical care area adjacent to the new surgical wing, newly designed and renovated nursing stations, and a new power plant to replace one built in 1917.

McGrath is a trustee of St. Mary's. He served as chairman of the 1979 United Way Campaign for Rochester. In addition, he is a director of Bernz-Omatic and Heany Industries and a member of the board of St. Ann's Home.

Martin T. Gullen Dies at 73

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Wednesday, Jan. 13, for Martin T. Gullen who died Jan. 9, 1982, in Strong Memorial Hospital. He was 73.

Mr. Gullen was president and founder of Rochester Optical Manufacturing Co. and had been hospitalized for two months.

He had lung surgery for cancer about three years ago and had been semi-retired since that time.

In addition to his business activities, Mr. Gullen was vitally interested in golf. According to his son, Martin E. Gullen of Penfield, he "had a tremendous love for Oak Hill Country Club," where he was president from 1957 through 1959.

Mr. Gullen started the Hill of Fame Committee at the club which recognizes great golfers not only for their ability but also for their humanitarian acts.

He was vice chairman of the 1956 U.S. Open at Oak Hill and a member of the executive committee of the 1968 Open and the 1980 PGA tournament.

A native of Rochester, Mr. Gullen was a graduate of Aquinas Institute. He attended Niagara University and the University of Rochester before starting his business, an optical laboratory, in 1932. His brother, James J. Gullen, became his partner about four years later. He is currently chief operating officer of the company.

During World War II, the firm manufactured sunglasses for the Army Air Corps. In 1948, the firm, previously known as Rochester Optical Co., assumed its present name. Located at 38 Scio St., it employs 100 persons.

Among other positions Mr. Gullen filled were as a member of St. Ann's Board of Directors, past president and executive committeeman of the State Seniors Golf Association, and board member of Optical Manufacturers Association.

Mr. Gullen had a strong interest in Catholic education and worked on the fund-raising drive for Our Lady of Lourdes School, Bishop Kearney's construction programs, the Joint College Fund and for Georgetown University in 1954. He was one of the original members of the Founders Club at McQuaid Jesuit High School.

Mr. Gullen resided at 37

Insights In Liturgy

By Sister Nancy Burkin, SSJ

The Ordo Missae Study

This past September more than 50 parishes in the Rochester diocese seriously began a study of the Order of Mass. This study is being conducted on the national level by the Bishops' Committee on the Liturgy of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and the Federation of Diocesan Liturgical Commissions. Designed primarily to be a source of education, the study also calls for an evaluation of each part of the Mass in regard to its effectiveness in serving the assembly when it celebrates. In addition, the participants may suggest ways each part may be modified — the movement of one part of the Mass to another location within the whole structure, the omission of a part not seen as serving the assembly — or they may suggest leaving the particular section of the Mass as is. The results of the evaluation in the Rochester diocese are sent to Washington where they are gathered together with evaluations from more than 180 other dioceses in the United States.

The evaluation, made by the people of these parishes, is not simply based on personal likes or dislikes but on a liturgical sense of the meaning and purpose of each section. Each participant has a copy of "The Mystery of Faith," a book written expressly for the study. "The Mystery of Faith" takes each part of the Mass beginning with the Entrance Procession, and proceeds through the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist section by section, giving historical background and Vatican II documentation for each. After reading the material, the members of these participating parishes gather once or twice a month to discuss their Sunday experience of Eucharist based on what they have read.

Whether or not any changes are made in the Order of Mass as a result of this study, the study itself cannot help but have an impact on these 50-some parishes and the diocese. For the most part, the people participating in the study are members of the parish liturgy committee. Coming to a deeper understanding of the Mass and the purpose of each of its parts; seeing one's own Sunday celebration in the light of the documentation, previously read, perhaps, but long since forgotten; seriously reflecting and discussing together a common experience of the Eucharist based on this deepened understanding and renewed vision of the documents can only lead to more meaningful celebrations of the Eucharist.

The Liturgy Office, reading and recording the recommendations, shared reflections and insights of the people of the diocese, is greatly aided in its knowledge of the Sunday experience in parishes and the needs of the people. Since the parishes in the Ordo Missae Study are varied — i.e., college campus parishes, city parishes, rural parishes, religious order communities — the information received in the office is invaluable.

The parishes participating in this study are to be commended for their perseverance throughout this program which continues until June of this year. For the most part, participants seem enthusiastic about the study and express again and again how much they are benefiting from it.

NEXT WEEK: Some of the thoughts and ideas of this evaluation of the Order of Mass.
