

Catholic Women

Principals of the Catholic Women's Club (left to right), Mrs. Eugenia Crayton, Mrs. Audrey Culhane, Mrs. Lucille Blum and Mrs. Mary Hastings, look at a dress which will be modeled at the club's luncheon and fashion show 11:30 a.m., Saturday, April 24, at Brooklea Country Club. Fashions shown will be from Projansky Apparel. Proceeds will be used to send young women to Catholic high schools. Reservations are made by calling Mrs. Hastings, 342-4143; or Mary Daniels, 338-1607.

On the Right Side

Thanks to WXXI for 'Brideshead'

To PBS station WXXI, Rochester:

This is just a note to say how much I have appreciated the Evelyn Waugh "Brideshead Revisited" series. The five-minute commentary with William F. Buckley was a plus. However, I am puzzled by the sizzling sex scene on the ship, between Julia and Ryder, which was so nakedly and unimaginatively presented, and hope that it will be cut in the future. Of course you will get cries of "censorship." Will you just ask the criers, "Are you willing to work in our office stark naked? If not, why not?" The reason, I think, is not fear of drafts, but a certain innate modesty which often is honored even by sexual degenerates. The day after that section was shown, a well known Rochester secretary phoned me and said, "Are you promoting X-rated TV?" Anyway, thank you for the series. Enclosed check is for a Channel 21 membership for the Sisters of Mercy, Omega House, Blossom Road, Rochester. These are older Sisters who built the Mercy Order to its climax, and who are living in prayerful retirement. I am always grateful to them.

To Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Behan, Palmyra:

Many thanks for your kind letter and words of appreciation of the On the Right Side column. The column does confirm confidence in the Church for many who are troubled by extreme changes and some shenanigans in the Church, which also greatly disturbed Waugh. When you finish Christopher Sykes' "Biography of E. Waugh," why not follow through with his "Letters?" Palmyra Library will get it for you through the Rochester Library and the Inner Library Loan system which covers five counties, including Wayne. I am sorry that many missed the "Brideshead" series. Father Heisel told me that the Washington Philharmonic Orchestra had the smallest crowd ever at Kennedy Center on March 29. Why? Because of the competition: NCAA basketball playoffs, Oscar Awards, and the finale of "Brideshead." I think it requires a certain sophistication to appreciate it, and the Dallas and Archie Bunker devotees might find the slow, pensiveness, and frequent religious subtleties a bit on the dull side. My hope is that through the series and consequent interest, many will go back to reading Waugh.

To Ursuline Sister M. Patricia Klink - New Rochelle, New York:

What a happiness to have your letter and your order for the Basset retreat conferences, "A Weekend with Cardinal Newman." I smiled at the meticulousness with which you approach the purchase: "the cost, the postage, the changing prices." The album has 14 conferences of 25 minutes each, and I sell it for $34.95, postage included. But please let me give it to you as a gift. In return I ask you to pray for me and my apostolates, and that you share the tapes with many. It is more than 50 years since we were young in Auburn. You were at the Ursuline Novitiate in New Rochelle. I was a clerk at Dowd-Leo clothing store, working for your uncle John Leo, a great churchman and Knight of Columbus, and for Charlie Dowd and Eddie Carroll.

Well, keep me in your prayers. We are old, and the Lord will call us soon. The last conference of Father Basset is on Purgatory, and it is about the best exposition I have ever heard. It also dispells those flames which glow so cheerfully in the south window of Holy Family Church, Auburn, these many years.
