Congratulations! 1982 Rap Coordinator Graduates

With this issue, RapAround will cease operations for the summer. RapAround wishes to thank the school administrators, faculty, office staffs, and students of the nine high schools for their pleasant cooperation during RapAround visits. And special thanks to the individual coordinators who kept their respective schools in the news. We wish the graduating coordinators luck and success in their future endeavors, look forward to working with previous coordinators, and welcome to the RapAround family those coordinators who will be replacing the graduates. RapAround will resume full coverage of the Rochester diocesan high schools when they re-open in September.

They're Boilermakers Now

Aquinas seniors Robert Bell, David Riedman and Colin Sheridan have been accepted at Purdue University and will begin studies this fall.

Bob Bell, son of Robert and Patricia Bell of Chili, will enter the School of Engineering for a degree in Mechanical Engineering Technology. Dave, son of John and Eileen Riedman of Chili, will major in Business Administration. Colin, son of James and Kathleen Sheridan of Greece, who is an honor student and Regents Scholarship winner, will major in Industrial Management.

When asked their reasons for choosing Purdue, Bob said he was impressed with the school's spirit and academic quality.

David replied that he liked

Bob, Dave and Colin look forward to joining the Purdue University family.

Purdue because of its size and spirit. "There is always something going on," he said, "such as football or basketball games. The school is like a city in itself."

Colin was influenced by the high academic standards at Purdue and feels that it is a highly competitive school, both in academics and athletics.

Bp. Clark to Say Mass at Aquinas

At 7:30 p.m., on Saturday, June 5, the 1982 Aquinas senior class and their parents will attend a Baccalaureate Mass in the school auditorium. Bishop Matthew H. Clark will be the celebrant and homilist. Graduation ceremonies will take place at 3 p.m., on Sunday, June 6, in the school auditorium and Father Ulysse E. Pare, Superior General of the Basilian Fathers, will be commencement speaker. Class Valedictorian is John Tomanovich. Mrs. Kathleen Lynd, president of the Board of Trustees, will award the diplomas.

Junior class parents will host the Aquinas Parents Association reception following the ceremony.

Tomanovich to Speak On Graduation Day

John Tomanovich has been chosen Valedictorian for the Aquinas 1982 graduation class. He was selected by his fellow classmates, faculty members and administrative personnel.

John has won a number of academic awards during his four years at Aquinas including a Regents scholarship, a Presidential scholarship from Alfred University, and the Rensselaer Math and Science Award. He is also a permanent member of the Aquinas St. Thomas Club.

This year he was Student Council president, and has been a representative of that organization in his freshman, sophomore and junior years. Sports have also been an integral part of John's high school year. He played football for four years, and basketball for three years.

He will attend Alfred University as a Ceramic Engineering major.

Class Officers Elected

The fanfare and speeches a... over and the work is just beginning for the newly elected Nazareth Academy class officers. Seniors elected Joanne Casey president, Kathleen Crilly vice president, Emira Woods secretary, and Sue Schrader treasurer.

Serving as junior class officers are Karen Wisniewski, president; Shelly Clements, vice president; Fran Bell, secretary; and Kathy Dwyer, treasurer.

Freshmen elected to office for next year are: Maria Paternoster, president; Joelle Tantalo, vice president; Marilyn Lombardi, secretary; Meg Zicari, treasurer.

Speakers Win Contest

On Saturday, May 15, the Nazareth Academy Forensics team hosted its third annual Junior High Speech Competition. Winning students were: Thresa Hoffman from St. Mary's in Canandaigua, original oratory; Katherine Maleck, St. Michael's in Newark, declamation; Michelle Pambert from St. Margaret Mary in Irondequoit, humorous interpretation; Jennifer Jankowiak, also from St. Margaret Mary, dramatic interpretation; and Michael Kelly of St. Michael's in Newark, oral interpretation.

Mercy Honors Our Lady

Friday, May 28, was May Day at Our Lady of Mercy High School. May Queen was Mary Duffy. Her court included Laura Bacher, Lynne Houle, Lori Calcagni, Susan Anderson, Margaret Mary Keefe, Mary Fran Walker, Jeni Corsiglia, Julieanne Leo, Maria Marchetti, Debbie Mazza, Charla Stevens, Judy Jo Wegman, Marian Carney, Sytrania Gause, Debbie Ragus, Sulie Strassel, Karen Brankacz, Ann Geen, Sue Haefner, Kathy Quinn, Renee Tudisco, and Miriam Vanderlaan.

Last Move

On Wednesday, June 16, the St. Agnes High School juniors will take their legal places as seniors. Even though the school closes its doors this year, the spirit is still there, and during a morning filled with events, the juniors will receive their senior beanies.

Defending Champs

The McQuaid High tennis team led by, from left, seniors George Walsh, John DiVincenzo, and freshman Andre Janecki, successfully defended their City-Catholic League championship last month. Janecki captured the singles title, beating Chris Franke of Cardinal Mooney, 6-1, 6-2. Walsh and DiVincenzo repeated as doubles champions, winning 6-0, 6-1, over Rob Merkel and Terry Donovan of Bishop Kearney.
