

Head Injury Group Forms

An organization for families of head-injured persons will meet locally for the first time 7:30 p.m., Sept. 15, in the auditorium of Monroe Community Hospital at Westfall and E. Henrietta roads.

St. Anthony's Sets Festival

The group will become a local unit of the New York State Head Injury Association and will be affiliated with the National Head Injury Foundation, Inc., as well.

Elmira — St. Anthony's Parish Annual Festival will be Saturday, Sept. 11, and Sunday, Sept. 12, on the parish grounds.

The event will start at 6 p.m. on Saturday, and 2 p.m. on Sunday. More than 20 booths for children and adults are being planned this year. Food selections will include Italian sausage, perogies, hot dogs, hamburgers, pizza, hot meatballs, tacos, roast beef, pasta, corn and Italian pastries.

Organizers plan for the group "to give emotional support to families and friends of the head-injured in the greater Rochester area, and to promote the general welfare of head-injured persons," a news-release stated.

Further information on the organization is available by contacting Kathi Matychak, rehabilitation social worker at MCH, (716) 473-4080.

On the Right Side

Role Models

To a Newark, N.Y., charismatic leader.

"Thank you for sending the check for Ralph Martin's book, 'Crisis of Truth.' It is not a simple book, so perhaps you should not encourage people to read it who may be virtuous and prayerful but are unconcerned about the things of the intellect. Many people seem not to realize that the God of love is also the God of truth: I am the way and the truth and the life."

"In the August 'New Oxford' Review, Christopher Derrick, writing about the Pope's visit to Britain, quoted Jacques Maritain: 'We need to have soft hearts and hard heads. Neither can achieve much without the other.' That is why orthodoxy, i.e. fidelity to God's Word, is so essential."

"Did you know that Martin also has an album set of tapes, likewise entitled 'Crisis of Truth?' It is superb. I loaned a set to young Jim Stein who was involved in a prayer group in Caledonia. He was driving to Texas and listened on the way. (I am a great advocate for listening to tapes while traveling. The car becomes a study hall.) My rectory-mate, Father Dan Karl, has sold 40 copies of 'Crisis,' and also has circulated the tapes. He has one of the most active prayer groups in the diocese. It meets Tuesdays at 8 p.m. in Holy Trinity Church, if you care to drop in. Many who would not read the book would listen to the tapes. I have just ordered six sets from Servant Ministries in Ann Arbor, Mich., and I will send a set to you.

"No, I am not a charismatic, and do not find the method of prayer and praise helpful to my own spirit. Yet I do recognize its value for many people and am happy to promote it for those who do profit from it."

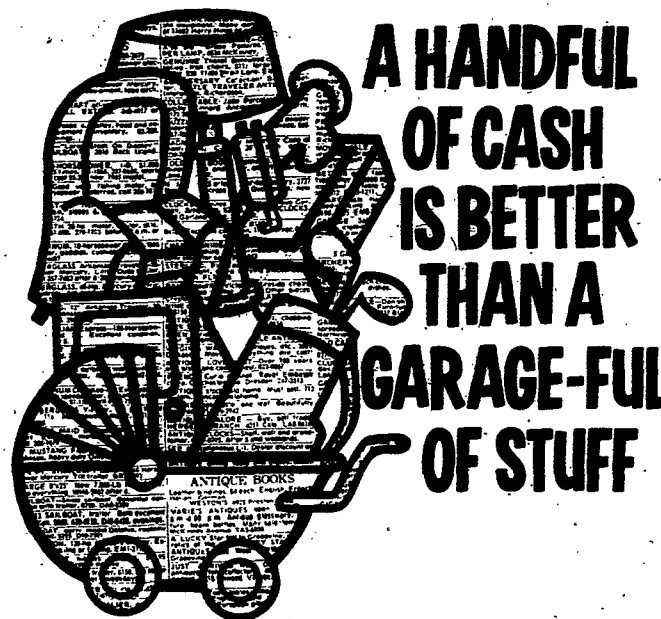

"While taking care of Clyde in August, I stopped at the Newark church to say hello to your cheerful Father McDonnell. He was vesting for 5 p.m. Mass. I was surprised to see so large a congregation, nearly 50 people. I stopped at the rectory for a few minutes with Fathers Steinkirchner and Sullivan, and expressed my admiration at such a congregation at weekday Mass.

"Do you know Charlotte Pittrella, the principal at St. Michael's School? She just ordered from me for the school Father Bernard Basset's tapes, 'Parliament of Saints.' This delights my soul. This very morning Sidney J. Harris' column is captioned 'Role models will help youth more than prayers.' While remaining neutral about prayers in public schools, he said: 'What children most require are models to imitate and look up to. This is a truth that has been known since the most ancient of times. If adults do not provide appropriate role models, it doesn't matter what they say or profess to believe in the abstract... The only way to indoctrinate children is to show them how adults are meant to behave.' (Democrat and Chronicle, Rochester, Aug. 24)

"Above all, our children need the model of Our Lord Jesus Christ, but they also need the models of those who reflect Christ in our weak human nature, especially in the saints. Why don't you borrow the tapes from Miss Pittrella?"
