

Haitian Update

Several diocesan leaders have joined in a campaign calling for "peace with justice in Central America."

The goals of the campaign are to: "stop all U.S. military aid to and intervention in El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala; stop U.S. covert operations and all other destabilization activity in Nicaragua; vigorously support a negotiated political solution between all parties involved in the conflict in El Salvador, and support the Mexico-Venezuela peace initiative which calls for talks between the United States and Nicaragua, and between Honduras and Nicaragua; grant temporary asylum to Central American refugees until they can safely return to their homelands."

Diocesans Promote Campaign for Peace In Central America

Several diocesan leaders have joined in a campaign calling for "peace with justice in Central America."

The goals of the campaign are to: "stop all U.S. military aid to and intervention in El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala; stop U.S. covert operations and all other destabilization activity in Nicaragua; vigorously support a negotiated political solution between all parties involved in the conflict in El Salvador, and support the Mexico-Venezuela peace initiative which calls for talks between the United States and Nicaragua, and between Honduras and Nicaragua; grant temporary asylum to Central American refugees until they can safely return to their homelands."

The campaign is being promoted in the diocese by the Central America Task Force of the diocesan International Justice and Peace Commission.

Among the endorsers of the campaign are Sister Sheila Briody, co-chaplain at SUNY Brockport; Carol Crossed, chairman of INFACOT Rochester and a member of the Hunger Task Force of St. John the Evangelist Parish on Humboldt Street; Mary Heidkamp, director of the diocesan Department of Justice and Peace; Tim McGowan of that department; Father Neil Miller, director of the Southern Tier Office of Social Ministry; Father William Spilly, coordinator of Justice and Peace for the Finger Lakes Office of Social Ministry; and Dr. John Walker, executive secretary of the Office of Black Ministries.

Further information on the campaign is available from Sylvia Thompson, a member of the diocesan Justice and Peace Commission, (716) 328-6400.

Parade to Feature International Bands

Kathy Callahan, a senior at Greece Arcadia High School and the 1983 Colleen of the Shamrocks for the St. Patrick's Day Parade Committee for Greater Rochester, will take part in the annual St. Patrick's Day Parade, Saturday, March 12.

The Rochester parade is expected to draw 15 bands including pipe bands from as far away as Toronto and Hamilton, Ontario. Slated among the local bands are Bishop Kearney High School, Franklin High School, the School of the Arts at Monroe, and Aquinas Institute.
