

Homosexual Tendency Not Condemned - Mag

Rome (NC) -- The Catholic Church has never condemned the homosexual orientation or tendency, as distinguished from homosexual activity, said an article in a respected Jesuit biweekly review.

Writing in the June 4 issue of Civiltà Cattolica, a Rome-based magazine which often reflects Vatican views in its editorials and major articles, Jesuit Father Francesco Giunchedi commented on the recent growth in Italy of groups for homosexual Catholics.

homosexual behavior and activity," he wrote.

"Therefore the church and the Christian community must make their own not only the understanding which charity demands, but also the active involvement of homosexuals in the Christian community, according to what prudence suggests, and the defense of their rights from every discriminatory attitude of society," Father Giunchedi added.

The Jesuit said the Civiltà Cattolica article had been written in response to a recent series in a Rome newspaper, La Repubblica, about the Catholic homosexual groups.

The articles accused the Catholic Church of a "violently negative attitude...toward homosexuality, insisting on considering it a vice, a depravity, an illness, a mutilation and a curse."

In disputing that viewpoint, Father Giunchedi cited Pope John Paul II's Oct. 7, 1979, address to the U.S. bishops and the 1976 declaration on human sexuality by the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith.

He also quoted at length on the topic from the U.S. bishops' 1976 pastoral letter on moral values, which said that "the fundamental human rights of homosexuals must be respected" and that "like heterosexuals, homosexuals are called to witness to chastity."

Clinics Set For Jobless

Free preventive health screening clinics began May 24 at the Office of Social Ministry, 160 High St., here. Staffed by registered nurses and organized in cooperation with the Greater Elmira Unemployment Council and the Office of Social Ministry, the clinics are scheduled from 4 to 6 p.m., Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

The council says that for many persons health coverage ends with joblessness, causing many to disregard medical needs because of expenses.
