

Camp Hosts Reunion

Camp Stella Maris hosted its first annual Counselor Alumni Reunion last year on Saturday, Nov. 26 at the Conesus Lake site. More than 35 current and former counselors attended. Highlighting the day was the announcement by camp director Ray Tette of the establishment of the Camp Stella Maris Alumni Association. Estimates provided by the camp show that there have been some 2000 counselors in the 58-year history of the camp. Turner Broadcasting Slates Jimmy Swaggart

Man Who Condemns Catholics Reaching 28.5 Million Viewers

Atlanta (NC) — The Rev. Jimmy Swaggart's show, taken off the air by viewer protest, is now on Atlanta's SuperStation WTBS, whose programming reaches 28.5 million cable viewers nationwide.

WTBS, Channel 17, the flagship station for the Turner Broadcasting System, began carrying Mr. Swaggart's "Study in the Word" program Jan. 2 and said it will run the show as long as the TV evangelist "stays out of trouble."

Mr. Swaggart's daily, paid-time TV program on the scriptures had been canceled by Channel 46 (WANK) and Channel 5 (WAGA) in November following complaints by Catholics that he was attacking the church. Channel 46 did, however, continue to air Mr. Swaggart's Sunday evening show.

According to WTBS president Robert Wussler, Mr. Swaggart had approached the station with a contract proposal and the station had been prepared to sell him air time, when the controversy involving Channels 5 and 46 arose. The evangelist pays local stations to run his programs, which are distributed nationwide.

After the cancellations occurred, Channel 17 was again contacted about a possible contract and an agreement was reached to air the program in an early morning time slot.

Wussler described the deal as a "standard one-year, sales contract" but said it worked out to a "week-by-week arrangement" in which the shows will be "carefully and closely" monitored.

"As long as he pays his bills and stays out of trouble," he said, Jimmy Swaggart will be able to remain on the air. And "trouble" Wussler explained, means the evangelist "saying things on the program he should not."

"He has promised to behave himself," Wussler said, adding that the shows will be previewed by one of three or four people in the station's programming department who will contact him if problems arise.

Msgr. Noel Burtenshaw, director of Catholic Communications in the Atlanta Archdiocese, who had raised objections to the program, said, "WTBS is known throughout the nation as a responsible communications organization. Therefore, we must presume that they will see to it that this program will be neither hurtful nor inaccurate when dealing with any individual, group or denomination."

Mr. Swaggart "has been most careless in the past," according to Msgr. Burtenshaw, but with the programs properly previewed, he said he is "confident that the whole question has now been put to rest. Like others who are Christians and use the media and the airwaves, Mr. Swaggart will simply be offering the uplifting message of the charity Jesus preached to those who watch his program."

In his previous telecasts and in his monthly magazine, The Evangelist, Mr. Swaggart has condemned Catholicism as a false religion of "ignorance, superstition and sin" and said Catholics should leave their church if they wish to be saved.

Msgr. Burtenshaw said that in the shows on Channel 5 and Channel 46 Mr. Swaggart had been making comments like "priests are just leading people to hell." According to Msgr. Burtenshaw the material presented by Mr. Swaggart was "almost comic."

In November the Georgia Bulletin, the Atlanta archdiocesan newspaper, had editorialized against Mr. Swaggart's "gospel of hate," saying "it really is surprising that TV evangelist Jimmy Swaggart, in this day and age, would be so blatantly and disgustingly anti-Catholic in many of his programs."

Herman Ramsey, vice president and general manager of Channel 46, said that in his broadcasts Mr. Swaggart had attacked not only Catholics but Baptists, Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Christians, primarily those of "organized religion groups."
