Open House Scheduled

Aquinas Institute band members rehearse for the annual Open House for seventh and eighth graders scheduled from 7-9 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 23. In addition to students and parents being able to meet with teachers and counselors, the drama club will be practicing for the Fall play, "Arsenic and Old Lace"; the science department will have various experiments on display; computers will be available for use by the students; and the athletic department will display exhibit pertaining to the various Aquinas sports activities. Members of the Aquinas Parents Association will also be available to talk to parents.

Villa Gets Check

'Unborn in Image of God,' Noted Pro-life Leader Says

Fairport — "All we know about the unborn is that they are created in the image of God, and that's all that matters."

Such was the essence of the powerful message delivered by Dr. Mildred Jefferson to parishioners of St. John of Rochester Church during Respect Life Weekend.

The Boston surgeon and past president of the National Right to Life Committee emphasized that as long as legislators and leaders support laws in opposition to country, it is up to the country, it is up to the citizens to join the battle to protect the lives of the unborn. She mentioned the 20 million lives already lost since the 1973 Supreme Court Decision made abortion so readily available.

"A nation that would accept the destruction of its own young," Dr. Jefferson pointed out, "is a nation that destroys its survival instinct and a nation that loses its survival instinct is on its way to becoming extinct."

She also told her audience that the time has come when people must carry the defense for Archbishop John O'Connor, whom she characterized as beseiged by an elected politician who has his own interpretation of what Catholic teaching must be.

Dr. Jefferson, who also spoke at St. Bridget's Church, was invited to the Rochester area by St. John of Rochester Parish.

Dr. Jefferson, left, shares a moment with Anita Maruggi of the diocean Human Life Commission.

The parish has been selected as a model by the Legislative Task Force of the diocesan Human Life Commission.

The model program will continue for six months and will provide opportunities for parishioners of all ages to become involved in organized pro-life activities.

Future plans include the showing of the film "Assignment Life," an art contest for school children, special programs in religion classes, and parish participation in the annual National Right to Life March in Washington in January.

Loose Leaf Season Is Now Open! Bag Your Quota.

It's that season again, and it's time to review the two simple leaf collection rules for keeping our yards, streets and neighborhoods from being buried under.

- Bagging and placing leaves between the sidewalk & curb guarantees pick-up on your regular collection day, or ...
- Leaves raked into loose piles between the sidewalk & curb (never in the gutter) will be collected once per street between Oct. 22 & Nov. 30.

(Please note: Leaves will never be picked up from backyards and must be bagged for collection after November 30.)

Cooperation will make a big job easier for everyone all season long.
