

The story of our miraculous statue "Padre Pio's Queen of Peace" and Her miraculous portrait.

On May 13th, 1981 our Holy Father, Pope John Paul II was shot in St. Peter's Square, Rome. The date corresponded with the Feast Day of Our Lady of Fatima, and the 64th anniversary of Our Lady's first appearance to the three little Portuguese shepherd children, Lucia, Jacinta and Francisco.

On May 13th, 1982 His Holiness was in Fatima at the sanctuary itself to give thanks to Our Lady for having saved him from being murdered one year before on the exact date.

On May 13th, 1982, while at Fatima, Pope John Paul II blessed a beautiful Pilgrim Virgin statue, personally, and especially for the travels of that statue within the apostolate work of The Padre Pio Institute, Canada's National Centre for Padre Pio. The statue was to be called "Padre Pio's Queen of Peace". He also blessed a large portrait of Padre Pio — known as "Padre Pio the Children's Guardian".

In September 1984, His Holiness visited Canada, and to commemorate this historical Papal Visit, The Padre Pio Institute released for the first time, a large colour photo-portrait of the Pilgrim Virgin, "Padre Pio's Queen of Peace". The portrait is by internationally-renowned photographer, John Evans of Ottawa.

wife had been filled with fear and apprehension concerning his approaching death. After hanging the portrait, great peace of mind came over him. His weight loss ceased, he began to improve, and was even well enough to travel to Ottawa to visit his Anglican daughter and her Presbyterian husband. The family invited the Pilgrim Virgin statue, "Padre Pio's Queen of Peace", which stayed an entire day in their home.

By January 1985, the grandfather's condition had so improved that he could travel to Hawaii with his daughter and son-in-law for a vacation. As of April 1985, he is still gaining back weight he lost and maintains his beautiful and spiritual peace of mind. He attributes it all to "Padre Pio's Queen of Peace" and Her portrait. "I am no longer afraid to die," he says.
