New education programs to start at St. Andrew's

St. Andrew's, Rochester — Two new programs are slated to start at the parish elementary school this fall. The Effective Parenting Information for Children program combines the efforts of home, school and community in an effort to develop responsible behavior in children and to teach them skills that will help them become responsible parents when they grow up. Roselane Marcella, the parish's human service coordinator, will facilitate the program.

As part of the EPIC program, parents of schoolchildren and such auxiliary members of the school staff as cafeteria workers will participate in a six-week program designed to improve their skills in dealing with youngsters, noted Sister Mary Alice O'Brien, the school's principal.

Lucille Newell, reading director for the school, will oversee a new reading clinic designed to help individual students acquire reading skills and language skills simultaneously. "It will aim at early intervention and (foster) a positive environment where children are taught based on their strengths and interests and are encouraged to view themselves as successful readers and writers," Foster said.

Cemetery blessing scheduled

St. Bernard's, Scripto Center — Father Robert Downs, pastor, will offer the annual blessing of the graves in St. Bernard's Cemetery on Sunday, Sept. 11, following 10:30 a.m. Mass. Aquinas Institute students, Jeff Krywy, Frances Garofanello and Stacie Pullinzi took part in the first Rochester-area Youth to Youth Conference held at Nazareth College August 19-21. The St. Ann's School Alumni Association presented Sister Dolores Ann Stein, RSM, the school's principal, with check for $2,000 raised through a variety of activities. The money will be used toward the school's Pine Room renovation. In conjunction with the Parents of St. Ann, the association also sponsored a fund drive entitled "Coins for the Future."
