from 1 to 3 p.m., in the church annex, 3660 Orchard St., Interlaken.

The series, sponsored by the Finger Lakes Office of Religious Education, will examine five areas of theology: revelation, Scripture, sacraments, church and morality. Through examining these topics, the presenters, Patricia Lawler and Mary Kate Davidson, will try to help participants discover the connection between their own experiences of God and the teachings of the church.

Fee for the series is $10. Pre-payment and pre-registration are required. Individuals who complete the series will receive 10 hours of con-

St. Joseph School music teacher Phyl Contestable plays with an electric keyboard — a 'toy' given to her class by the students' parents.

Parents from St. Joseph School in Penfield responded enthusiastically to a "Christmas Wish List" prepared by the school's Education Association. Teachers submitted for the project a list of items they would like for their classrooms — items they might have eventually bought themselves or simply done without.

As a result, the music department received an electric keyboard from the parents of music students and of members of the Show Stoppers and Kids Khorus singing groups. Parents of preschoolers supplied a new sand and water table for the three-year-old class and a chest of drawers for the doll corner in the four-year-old class.

Among other gifts received were: a white chalkboard with markers for the third grade; a listening lab for fourth-graders; $200 worth of new books for the library; floor pillows for the first grade; and educational and fun games for recess and lunch time for grades one through five.

On Dec. 3, the Bishop Kearney High School Forensics Team placed third in a speech and debate tournament in Mt. Morris, N.Y. Individual awards were won by Jenni Petrie, second place in original oratory; Gina Draugalis, second place in oral interpretation; Jeff Miller, third in declamation; and John Hutchison, fourth in extemporaneous speaking.
