

'Dream' relies on incomprehensible trick

NC News

NEW YORK (NC) — It took three screenwriters to dream up "Dream a Little Dream" (Vestron), an almost incomprehensible teenage comedy-romance that exploits the old-young body switch gimmick, hopefully for the last time.

Director and co-writer Marc Rocco loses his way early on when he tries to get us to believe that the loving spirits of a middle-aged couple, Coleman and Gena Ettinger (Jason Robards and Piper Laurie) end up through telepathic dream projection in a pair of deadbeat teens, Bobby Keller and Lainie Diamond (Corey Feldman and Meredith Salenger).

With that kind of blessed karma, the confused kids soon shape up, redirect their adolescent anger into a sweet, sensitive romance and deflate their peers' anti-social, unhealthy tendencies before a tragedy ensues.

Since the pyrotechnics of the spirit switch make no sense at all, it's at least a relief to see the kids' positive values remain intact when the old and young couples are restored to their original ages. Aside from Robards and Laurie, who are wasted here, the only thing about this film worth savoring is its music, a mix of Sinatra and Torme, plus new pop favorites.

Due to much rough language laced with sexual vulgarities, the U.S. Catholic Conference classification is A-III — adults.

Fornataro's
2155 Long Pond Rd.
(corner Long Pond & Spencerport Rds.)
(716)426-1240

Along the streets of Rome or in the Italian countryside, the word "trattoria" conjures up images of a family-like dining room just off a kitchen, fragrant with the rich aroma of simmering meat sauces, tomatoes and fresh peppers. Such could be a description of Fornataro's. Serving dishes like Filet Fornataro (beef dressed in a sweet sauce with melon balls and grapes), Saltimbocca, Veal Marsala and Madeira, Fettucine Alfredo in its golden cheese dressing, and Beef Tenderloin flavored with spices and cognac in a marinara sauce. Most pastas are homemade. Wines and liquors are used liberally in the cuisine as are artichoke hearts and fruits. Lunches served Monday through Friday, dinner seven nights a week. Banquet and private party rooms are available.

Charlie's Coldwater Station
607 Coldwater Rd., Gates
(716)247-3860

Just a short drive from the hustle and bustle of the city, you'll find Charlie's Coldwater Station, tucked neatly next to the railroad tracks on Coldwater Road. (Between Buffalo Road and Westside Drive).

As one of the last surviving railroad stations of the 1800's, it has an interesting history. During WWII, the station served as a Post Office. After sitting idle for some time, it was used as a furniture store which Charlie Diem took over in 1976. In 1984, Charlie converted the station into a unique restaurant, doing most of the work himself.

Charlie's Coldwater Station features a tremendous Sunday Brunch from 10:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. The items featured include salads, juices, sweetrolls, pancakes, french toast, bacon, sausage, hash browns, all types of eggs cooked to order and a variety of special items.

At 1:30, Charlie's Coldwater Station takes away the breakfast items and adds scalloped potatoes and unlimited prime rib changing it to an afternoon dinner buffet, available up to 6 p.m. A sumptuous dessert table helps to complete your Sunday feast!

Brunch is $7.95, Dinner Buffet $9.95. There are reduced rates for children under 12. Children under 4 are free. For a Friday Fish Fry that's second to none try Charlie's for the largest Haddock Fry in town!
