PARISH NOTES

Parish festival scheduled

ROCHESTER — St. Jude the Apostle Church is holding its annual festival under a big top tent from Friday, Sept. 15, to Sunday, Sept. 17.

The festival will feature a fish fry on Friday night from 5-8 p.m., and an old-fashioned roast beef dinner on Saturday from 5-8 p.m. A lasagna dinner will be served on Sunday from 1-7 p.m. All dinners are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The celebration will also feature games, food booths and a live fish pond. Proceeds from the festival help finance the parish budget, religious education and various activities. For information, call 716/247-4322.

AIDS workshop planned

SHORTSVILLE — St. Dominic's Parish will hold an informational meeting about AIDS Sunday, Sept. 17, at 3 p.m. in the parish center.

Alice Robeson of the Hemophilic Center in Rochester will be the principal speaker. A panel discussion to answer questions will follow the presentation.

Pastors and ministers of many area churches have been asked to attend with members of their congregations. The workshop is open to anyone who wants to learn more about AIDS.

Parish pot luck scheduled

DUNDEE — St. Andrew's Parish will hold a pot luck dinner Friday, Sept. 22, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the church. People are asked to bring a dish to pass and individual table service.

The after-dinner speaker will be Roberta Disbrow, who will talk about her trip to Medjugorje last fall.

Secular order meeting set

AUBURN — On Sept. 17, the Feast of the Stigmata of St. Francis, St. Francis of Assisi Parish will host a 7 p.m. meeting for all people interested in joining the secular Franciscan Order. The spiritual journey involved in joining the order will begin in October. People who are interested may leave their names at the rectory, 185 Clark St., 315/252-7593.

The parish will also take part in the world-wide pro-life day of prayer on Sept. 15., from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. All are invited.

House, volunteers sought

NEWARK — St. Michael's Parish is seeking a house and volunteers for a proposed new ministry: a home for the dying.

The home would provide an alternative to institutional care for people in their last days and months. The home will house two guests who have an estimated period of less than three months to live and who for some financial, social and/or psychological reason are unable to be cared for in their own homes.

Approximately 125 volunteers will be needed to help with laundry, shopping, emergency plumbing, electrical repairs, lawn care, and personal care of the guests — plus visiting, reading and praying with them.

The parish is asking for the use of a house — or an outright donation of a house — for the program.

Volunteers or someone with a house the parish can use should call the parish center, 315/331-6753.

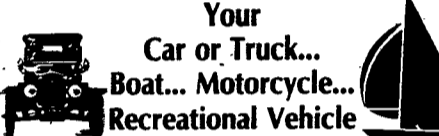

School fundraiser begins

AUBURN — Eighth-grade students of St. Hyacinth School are continuing a bottle-and-can drive to raise money for their class trip. Bottles and cans may be dropped off at 40 1/2 Perrine St. now and throughout the rest of the school year.

NEIGHBORS

Martial Bednar, a 1988 graduate of Nazareth College, has been appointed assistant director of alumni relations at the college. His primary responsibility will be developing programs for recent graduates. Among other duties, he will coordinate the student-alumni program and will assist with the class agents program.

Jean Bohomey has been named a member of the faculty of the St. James Mercy Hospital School of Nursing. She holds a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the State University of New York, and a master's degree from the University of Rochester. She has served for the past three years as a staff nurse in the ear, eye, nose and throat surgery nursing department at Strong Hospital, and will be applying for certification as a nurse practitioner this fall.

Nazareth College of Rochester has received a grant of $78,232 from the National Science Foundation to develop innovative undergraduate courses designed to help students achieve success in calculus. Two of the college's instructors, Ronald W. Jorgensen, assistant professor of mathematics, and Nelson Rich, associate professor of mathematics and computer science, will develop a computer-assisted calculus curriculum that identifies 12 of the most common areas of student difficulties and organizes classroom demonstrations, problems, and evaluation to promote mastery of essential concepts.

Nazareth Academy enters the new school year with new student officers. The senior class will be led by Colleen O'Keefe, president; Maureen Devine, vice president; Patrice White, secretary; and Rebecca Ehrmentraut, treasurer. Junior class officers are: Roseanne DiMaria, president; Rachelle Zambito, vice president; Gina Inclema, secretary; and Paula Miller, treasurer. Officers for the sophomore class are: Keesha Fleth, president; Nuala Hetzler, vice president; Teresa Inclema, secretary; and Kristen MacPherson, treasurer.

New officers in the student senate are seniors Michele Lipani, president, and Nichole Bruno, vice president; and juniors Tara Seaborn, secretary, and Kerry Burke, treasurer.
The National Honor society officers will be Elizabeth Foley, president, Kathleen Doran, vice president; Maria Paternoster, secretary; and Renee Gambitta, treasurer.

Maryknoll Sister Esther Donovan, an Auburn native, is celebrating 60 years of missionary commitment this year. On Oct. 15, 1929, she entered the Congregation of the Maryknoll Sisters and began training as a missionary sister.

Sister Donovan is a graduate of St. Mary's School, Auburn. She obtained a bachelor's degree in education from Maryknoll Teachers College, Ossining, N.Y., in 1937, and was assigned to the Hawaiian Islands that same year. She served as a regional superior of the Maryknoll Sisters in the Central Pacific Islands from 1960-70, and as coordinator of the Maryknoll Nursing Home in Ossining from 1970-74.

From 1974 to June of this year, Sister Donovan was assigned to the island of Majuro in the independent Republic of the Marshalls, about 2,000 miles east of Hawaii. She was honored at two celebrations on the island earlier this year — a liturgy held April 15, and an 'oloha' party June 9. She left the island June 10, and returned to the Maryknoll Sister's Center for rest and renewal, and to visit relatives in Auburn July 6-28.
