June's calendar looks busy, rewarding

By Bishop Matthew H. Clark

Tuesday, May 29.

For many people, the Memorial Day weekend signals the beginning of the summer season. Cottages are being opened these days. Boats are being prepared for another season. College students have finished the year's work and younger students are finishing assignments and getting themselves ready for final examinations. For a great number of people, it is a busy time of the year, but a pleasant one. Summer does bring vacation and a different pace of life.

These days I find myself looking forward to vacation time in July, but not so strongly that I'll fail to enjoy the stimulating events of the month of June. This evening we will have the first of five celebrations at which we'll receive the conducting a series of three meetings with parish reports from the Commitment to Ministry Process. I am excited about these gatherings because they represent an enormous amount of work, lovingly done, by our parish communities. That work already has been and will continue to be of great benefit to our parish communities. It also will offer a considerable amount of useful information to the diocese. The gatherings at which we'll celebrate this work and receive the reports will be at Sacred Heart Cathedral; St. Ann's, Hornell; St. Mary's, Elmira; Transfiguration, Pittsford; and Holy Family, Auburn. You'll be reading more about these gatherings in future issues of the Catholic Courier.

In addition to the gatherings for the Commitment to Ministry Process, I am our pastors concerning our next Thanksgiving Appeal. The meetings will take place at Corning, Penfield and Auburn. I expect that these, too, will be pleasant meetings because during them we will announce some steps toward improving the annual TGA, which is so important for our diocese.

The month's activities will also include ordinations to the permanent diaconate; the ordination to the priesthood of Vic Bartolotta: two more confirmation celebrations; and meetings with the boards of Social Ministry, Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Sheen Ecumenical Housing Foundation, the Catholic Courier, the Diocesan Board of Education, and our New York State Board of Bishops.

There will be visits to the Carmelite Monastery on Jefferson Road; to Holy Spirit Parish on the Feast of Pentecost for the celebration of their 25th anniversary; a weekend visit to our parish communities in East and West Bloomfield; a breakfast meeting with representatives of the media in the Rochester area; and the graduation celebrations at McQuaid and Aquinas high schools.

I'll be missing the other high school graduations this year because the bishops of our country will be gathering at Santa Clara University in California for eight days in the second half of June for one of our occasional extended programs of study and reflection on particular pastoral themes. This year's theme is the ministry of the bishop in today's church. I am looking forward to that opportunity, and will tell you more about it as the date draws

June looks to be a busy and rewarding month on my calendar. I hope that it will be the same for you. As you go about your daily tasks, please be sure that you do so with the support of my prayers.

Peace to all.

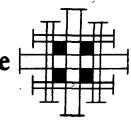

The Holy Spirit's work goes on among believers By Sister Mary Louise Heffernan Diocesan Liturgical Commission From

The great 50 days, the celebration of the feast of Easter, conclude on Pentecost Sunday. Pentecost is the feast of the People of God gathered to celebrate the Spirit of

The assembly gathered today is the focus of this celebration. It is the community sharing its gifts and love that exemplifies the power of the Spirit still alive in the world today. In the opening prayer of the Pentecost liturgy, we say, "... let the spirit you sent on your Church to begin the teaching of the Gospel continue to work in the world through the hearts of those who believe." This prayer is both a challenge and call to us to be mindful of the gift and gifts in abundance. The building of the Kingdom demands that we reflect upon our giftedness and respond. Recalling the commitment of our baptism, we understand the call of the Lord to those who covenant to be followers. Each gift is for the service of the whole body.

Pentecost, the coming of the Spirit, is a gift to the church.

Repentance to Rebirth

Pentecost is celebrated in the fullness of the Resurrection. Passing through the major seasons of the liturgical year we can better appreciate the Paschal Mystery. This mystery is central to everything in the church's life. The preface of Pentecost emphasizes the connection between Pentecost and the paschal mystery: "Today you send the Holy Spirit on those marked out to be your children by sharing the life of your only Son, and so you brought the paschal mystery to its completion." The Spirit moves us to courageously live this mystery, to share in the life of
