Mercy awards 100 diplomas

One hundred young women will accept their diplomas from Our Lady of Mercy High School Wednesday evening, June 20, during the school's 59th annual commencement exercises. The ceremony is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Linda Lee-Boesl, a member of Mercy's English faculty, will address the graduates and their families during the graduation ceremony, which will take place at the Eastman Theatre, Rochester.

Loan T. Chu, daughter of Bach and Thuy Chu of Charter Oaks Drive, Pittsford, is the valedictorian for Mercy's Class of 1990. She is planning to pursue pre-medical studies at the University of Rochester.

OUR LADY OF MERCY

Class salutatorian is Anne Thuy Nguyen, daughter of Thang and Le Nguyen of Vintage Lane, Rochester. Anne plans to study biomedical/nuclear engineering at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

LAUNCHING PAD

Why is it that such a vastly disproportionate number of people at the top of their professions launched their careers with a liberal arts education?

It's not a matter of facts or figures. It's a matter and manner of thinking.

At Nazareth College a great deal of attention is paid to developing the students' organizational and communication skills and the honing of their ability to make independent and critical evaluations. After all, these are the skills of today's leaders, And Tomorrow's.
