lead in the final minute, got a big boost when Bill Sweeney connected on a three-pointer with :50 to go.

Mark Higgins led DeSales with 22 points. The Saints were playing without their second-leading scorer, Todd Hardy, who missed the game with an ankle injury.

"The kids played super defense. They held up under the pressure real well without Todd," said DeSales Coach Tony Alvaro.

ELMIRA NOTRE DAME'S boys made an incredible comeback in their home contest against Horseheads on Jan. 17. Trailing by 26 points in the third quarter, the Crusaders actually tied the score with 1:30 left in the game before eventually losing 83-79.

"People were saying it was one of the greatest comebacks in Notre Dame history. Unfortunately, we didn't come back enough," Coach Mike D'Aloisio said.

Three nights earlier, ND (5-7) won 55-43 over visiting Corning West behind 17 points from Bryan Woodworth and 14 from Aaron Mekos.

Both BISHOP KEARNEY varsity teams were victorious on Jan. 13. The boys (6-7) won 67-61 over host Oswego Bishop Cunningham behind 27 points from Joe Raniewicz, and the girls (6-3) scored a 47-36 triumph over host Wilson as Jenny Lynch scored 18 points.

NAZARETH's girls (4-6) won 35-20 over host Northstar Christian Academy on Jan. 14. Dionne Robinson scored nine points to lead the Lasers.

Bishop Kearney sophomore Laura Stockslader warms up before a Jan. 16 Private-Parochial match at North Park Lanes. Stockslader carries a 169 average, which ranks third in the league.

BK girls strike down opponents

ROCHESTER — You want a good bowling team? Get a good bowler as your coach.

It may be rather simplified logic, but it's made all the difference in the world for the Bishop Kearney girls' bowling team.

The Kings' program was not a Private-Parochial League power until Kathy Mack arrived as head coach in 1990. Kearney won that year's league championship and finished second last season to Our Lady of Mercy.

And, judging by BK's success thus far in 1992, this looks like the best year yet. The Kings have posted a perfect 30-0 record in league competition.

"I would say this is the best team I've had," said Mack, a 185-average bowler who once threw a 277 game.

The Kearney coach has worked extensively with the girls' styles. "I stress to them about picking spares," she said.

The girls practice every Friday to supplement their Private-Parochial activity, and five of Kearney's seven team members are also junior league bowlers.

In Private-Parochial competition last week at North Park Lanes, the Kings won 6-0 over Our Lady of Mercy on Jan. 14 and by the same score over Nazareth Academy on Jan. 16.

Kearney junior Kathy Stubbings, who has an average of 174, is tied for the league high scoring average with Mercy's Lee Foos.

BK sophomore Laura Stockslader carries a 169 average to rank third in the league. She also has the Private-Parochial's high two-game set of 391.

Mack's daughters, junior Stacy Shea and freshman Sarah Shea, have Kearney's next-best averages of 162 and 147, respectively.

Rounding out the team are junior Kim Usselman, 146 average; senior Jenny Boy, 135; and junior Nicole Whiting, 121.

BK was in especially high gear for its Jan. 14 match against Mercy. The Kings averaged 166.1 per person, with a season-high team game of 874.

It might take that type of sterling performance come Section 5 tournament time. BK finished second to Wayne at last year's sectionals, and, according to Mack, "Wayne is very strong again this year. They have a couple of girls averaging near 200."

Leading bowlers for other Private-Parochial teams are Michelle Gerhard who carries a 168 average for Aquinas Institute; and Terry Zimmer, who leads Nazareth Academy at 157.
