

Sister Mary Agnes Dempsey, 83; former teacher

Sister Mary Agnes Dempsey, OSF, who taught at Our Lady of Good Counsel School in Rochester, died on Thursday, April 16, 1992, at the St. Elizabeth Motherhouse in Allegany, N.Y. She was 83.

The daughter of the late Terrence Dempsey and Ann Mahoney, Sister Marie Agnes was born in Rexville, N.Y. Formerly known as Sister Terrence Marie, she was received into the Congregation of the Franciscan Sisters of Allegany in 1925. She professed her final religious vows on Aug. 15, 1933.

Sister Mary Agnes served in education throughout her ministerial life. The first 20 years of her teaching career were spent in Jamaica, West Indies. After her return to the United States in 1946, she taught at several schools in New York state, including Rochester's Our Lady of Good Counsel.

She retired in 1974 and moved to St. Elizabeth Motherhouse in 1980, where she resided until her death.

Sister Marie Agnes is survived by a sister, Rita Williams of Arkport, N.Y.; a brother, Robert Dempsey of Hornell; as well as several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by a brother, Eugene; and a sister, Madeline Widmer.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at the St. Elizabeth Motherhouse Chapel on April 21. Interment was at St. Bonaventure Cemetery in Allegany.
