

Catholic education institute set for July 6-7

ROCHESTER — A two-day program at the University of Rochester will explore the future of Catholic schools on the verge of the 21st century.

Titled "Institute on Catholic Education," the July 6-7 program is sponsored by the college's Graduate School of Education and Human Development.

Speakers scheduled to attend include Sister Lourdes Sheehan, RSM, education secretary at the U.S. Catholic Conference; Sister Amata Miller, IHM, an economist and education coordinator for Network: The National Catholic Social Justice Lobby; and Joseph McTighe, executive secretary for the New York Council of Catholic School Superintendents.

Teachers, school administrators, pastors, board and committee members, parents, and parish and civic community members are invited to attend. On-campus housing will be available.

Registration fee is $150. A 10-percent discount will be given to groups of five or more from the same institution. For details, contact Sister Edwardine Weaver, RSM, 403 Lattimore Hall, University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y., 14627; or call 716/275-7833.

Montessori programs planned for children, teachers

PITTSFORD — Trinity Montessori School, 4095 East Ave., is offering two programs during the summer months — one for small children and one for teachers.

For children ages 3 to 7, the school will provide an arts program July 6-31, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon. These sessions feature dance, drama, art, nature walks and field trips.

A Montessori Teacher Education Program will begin July 13. No previous teaching experience is necessary to enroll in the two-year program, which trains adults to teach children ages 3 to 6 in a Montessori setting.

For details on either program, call Sister Clare Francis Mogenhan, SSJ, school principal, at 716/586-1044.
