

Conference to offer help dealing with sexual abuse

HENRIETTA — A conference on childhood sexual abuse for survivors and treatment professionals is scheduled for Sept. 10-12, at the Holiday Inn, 1111 Jefferson Road.

Titled "Creating a Safe Space for Healing," the conference is designed to help train professionals in the most effective strategies for treating or working with survivors of childhood sexual abuse.

In addition to providing recovery strategies for survivors of sexual abuse, the conference will feature an announcement concerning the opening of a Safe Space facility in Rochester. The facility will provide a short-term residence for survivors.

Cost for professionals is $275 for mail registration or $325 at the door. Cost for survivor registration is $65 in advance, $75 at the door.

For information, write the Safe Space Conference, P.O. Box 343, Penfield, N.Y., 14526-0343, or call 716/251-7124.

Hospital begins program for stroke victims, families

ELMIRA — St. Joseph's Hospital, 555 E. Market St., has started a new support program called "Survivors of Stroke."

The purpose of the program, which is offered through the hospital's Twin Tiers Rehabilitation Center, is to aid, inform and encourage stroke survivors and their families.

Meetings will take place monthly. The inaugural program is scheduled for Sept. 1, from 2 to 3:30 p.m., in the Cusick Meeting Room.

Information about this group can be obtained from Laurie Sweeney Brann at 607/733-6541, ext. 7916.

Students elect officers for 1992

New student-government officers at Spencerport's St. John the Evangelist School are: (standing, left to right) Kristin Pernicano, president; Vincent Morganti, vice president; Lisa Marianetti and Kerry Morriss, homeroom representatives; (kneeling, left to right) homeroom representatives Diana Carmen, Jennifer Joy, Joe Meyers, Mike Baum, Danielle Pernicano and Laura Young.

David McCallum to profess first vows as Jesuit Aug. 15

ROCHESTER — Two Jesuit novices, including one from the Diocese of Rochester, will pronounce first vows of poverty, chastity and obedience at the LeMoyné College Chapel on Saturday, Aug. 15, at 4 p.m.

David C. McCallum, 23, the son of David and Rhonda McCallum of St. Ambrose Parish, Rochester, is a graduate of West Irondequoit High School. After graduating from LeMoyné College in 1990 as an English major with an integral honors degree, he entered the Jesuits in 1990. He performed his novitiate training at St. Andrew Hall, Syracuse.

Since entering the order, he has worked as a tutor at Cathedral Grammar School, Syracuse; studied Spanish in the Dominican Republic; taught minority students in the Higher Achievement Program at St. Peter's Prep, Jersey City; worked with immigrants from El Salvador, Somalia and Sri Lanka at La Casa, Buffalo; and served as a pastoral care intern at The Spellman Center for H.I.V.-Related Diseases at St. Clare's Hospital, N.Y.

This summer he served as co-director of a summer camp sponsored by St. Ignatius Parish in Brooklyn's Crown Heights section. Beginning in September, he will study philosophy at Fordham University in the Bronx.

Andrew J. Krivak, of Dallas, Pa., will also pronounce his first vows.

Parish slates adoration

RUSH — St. Joseph's Parish, 6105 Rush-Lima Road, invites all community members to join in perpetual adoration of the Blessed Sacrament.

The church's Eucharistic Adoration Chapel is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

For information, call Judy, 716/624-1079, or Nancy, 624-3804.

Office to provide grants to anti-hunger groups

GENEVA — The Finger Lakes Office of Social Ministry will provide small grants to not-for-profit organizations providing emergency food to communities at no cost.

Organizations benefiting in the past included emergency food cupboards, soup kitchens and overnight shelters.

Funds are available each year through donations collected from diocesan Catholics during Operation Breadbox. Three-quarters of the donated funds support self-help projects in Third World countries, while the remaining sum remains in the diocese to support emergency food efforts.

Application forms are available through the Finger Lakes Office of Social Ministry, 110 Exchange St., Geneva, N.Y. 14456. Forms must be postmarked by Aug. 28, 1992.

For information, call Giovina Caroscio at 315-789-2686.

Prayer community seeks individual to join group

ROCHESTER — The live-in community at Corpus Christi Church, 80 Prince St., is looking for a male individual to live with a prayer-centered community of lay men and women.

Living accommodations are provided in exchange for part-time employment on the rectory staff. The community shares responsibility for hospitality, security and coordination of evening and weekend activities in the church and rectory.

The position is open to men of all faiths. A one-year commitment is required. For information and an application, call Barb, Cheryl, Kate or Ric at 716/325-2424.

Josaphats
 20th ANNIVERSARY
Ukrainian Arts & Crafts Festival
 940 Ridge Road East, Irondequoit
AUGUST 13, 14, 15, 16
 • RIDES • GAMES • AMUSEMENTS

FREE PARKING
 ADMISSION
 ENTERTAINMENT

STARTING TIMES
 THURSDAY & FRIDAY 6P.M.-?
 SATURDAY & SUNDAY, 1:00 P.M.-?

- Ukrainian Arts & Crafts
- Ukrainian Food
- Ukrainian Fashion Show
- Ukrainian Folk Dancing—
 Saturday & Sunday at 3:00 & 6:00p.m.
- Live Music For Dancing—
 Friday, Saturday, & Sunday evenings.

GRAND PRIZE DRAWING

 WIN 1992 CUTLASS CIERA
 OR $10,000 CASH

Come & See OLYMPIC SUPER STAR CATHY TURNER
 Cathy will officially open the festival Thursday evening & draw the grand prize number on Sunday at 8:00p.m.

FOR FULL DETAILS CALL THE FESTIVAL HOTLINE:
266-2255

Recognizing...

- ★ Dr. Esther Desaro Maltese, associate chairperson of the education department at Nazareth College of Rochester, who has recently been invited by the editorial board of the international journal, Pedagogia e Vita, to represent the United States on its Comitato Scientifico. Her article, "Literary Perspectives: The Librally Education Person" will be published in Florence, Italy, this fall.
- ★ the June 23 election of new members to the Catholic Family Center's board of directors: Anne Marie Heese, Elizabeth Padilla, Sheila Dwyer Kasper, Richard Long, Katherine McGhee, Jay Travers, William McClaren, Ed Figueiroa, Dominic Brown and Anthony LaPaglia; the following members elected to their second term: Murray Bramble and Eugene Lilly; and the elected officers of the board for 1992-93: Judith O'Brien, president; Father Donald J. Condon, vice president and planning; Martin Muehl, vice president of finance; Christine Allcock, vice president of personnel; Jack Kruekel, vice president of resource; and Karen Ransay, secretary.
- ★ Sister Beatrice Ganley, SBJ, who published a book review in the July issue of the national journal, Sisters Today. Published in Collegeville, Minn., the journal explores vision of women and the church today. Sister Ganley reviewed the book, The Healing Imagination: The Meeting of Psyche and Soul, written by Ann and Barry Ulanov. She has been a regular contributor of poems, articles, essays and reviews to the journal.
- ★ Roseann Savary, R.N., R.S.N., of St. Joseph's Hospital, Elmhurst, who recently received a Special Recognition award from the New York State Emergency Nurses' Association. The award is presented annually.

5 Year Parts & Labor Warranty
Utility Company Rebates
24 Hour Service
Free Estimates
Quality Services & Installation

20% OFF
 Air Conditioning
 Clean & Check
 NOW
$38.40
 Expires 8/31/92

BETLEM RESIDENTIAL 271-0260