

Students stop to talk between classes. About 50 boys attended McQuaid's Higher Education Program, concentrating on basic math, reading and literature skills, as well as recreational activities.

English teacher Mike Bonnewell, a former HAP student himself, answers questions.

Father Bill McCusker (left) and Scott Bryant of Seton Catholic Junior High work on vocabulary words from O. Henry's The Third Ingredient. The two were describing the word "grizzly" during a review in Father McCusker's literature class.

Peter Valone (left) completes the introduction to a business letter on the board, as teacher Mike Bonnewell watches.

Ed Walker (right) demonstrates the basics of self-defense during the recreation segment the five-week summer program at McQuaid. Since its inception, more than 1,200 boys have graduated from the program.

Photos by Erik Kunkel, photo intern