"McQuaid was a great choice for me. In my four years at McQuaid I learned that it is not enough for people to respect you for what you know, or what you have, but who you are as a person. For the best of all worlds - academic, athletic, and social - consider McQuaid!"

Jeffery Armbrister, Class of 1991

LOOKS LIKE OUR SECRET IS OUT

After 128 years as a Philadelphia institution, we've been discovered by the rest of the country:

- U.S. News & World Report ranked La Salle University among the 30 best regional colleges in the northern United States. La Salle was also cited for its academic reputation and for its exceptional record on student retention.
- La Salle was selected by Barron's, Money magazine, and the New York Times as one of the "best buys" in higher education.
- The influential Long Island newspaper, Newsday, referred to La Salle as a "university on the rise" in an article entitled "Where the Hot Schools Are."
- Standard & Poors ranked La Salle 10th among the nation's liberal arts colleges in the number of graduates who are top corporate leaders.
- La Salle was selected to appear in Peter-son's Competitive Colleges, a profile of the schools that consistently accept the nation's best students.
- A nationwide study of nearly 900 private colleges ranked La Salle in the top four percent since 1977 as an originating school for Ph.D.s.

We have known for many years that the academic excellence of our programs, the value of our education, and the extraordinary quality of our teaching place us among the best private liberal arts colleges in the country. It's gratifying to see that others are now taking notice.

If you'd like to know more about what makes La Salle so special, call or write the Director of Admissions, La Salle University, Philadelphia, PA 19141, (215) 951-1500.
