U of R to host institute on Catholic education in July

ROCHESTER — The University of Rochester's Graduate School of Education and Human Development will host the Fourth Annual Institute on Catholic Education on July 12-13.

Titled "Lighting New Fires," this year's institute is designed as an ongoing follow-up to the National Congress on Catholic Education, which was held in the fall of 1991 in Washington D.C.

Participants will hear selected figures assess the state of Catholic education and evaluate prospects for the future. Workshops and informal discussions will round out the program.

Featured speakers will include Michael J. Guerra, executive director of the Secondary School Department of the National Educational Association, and Sister Clare Fitzgerald, director of the Catholic School Leadership Program at Boston College.

The registration fee until June 5 is $135; after June 5, the fee is $155. Group discounts are available. Housing will also be available for an additional fee.

For information, contact Edwaine Weaver at 716/275-7833, or write to her at 403 Lattimore Hall, University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y. 14627.
