Super

His initial reaction? "I thought they were fake."

Paul encountered similar skepticism when he told his friends at Plank Road South Elementary School in Webster, where he is a fifth-grader, that he and his dad were going to the Super Bowl. "They said, 'Yeah, right,'" Paul remarked.

Ironically, it was indeed the Miami Dolphin Fan Club which had made this trip possible. Larry pointed out that since the donation was made six months earlier, there was no way to foresee that it would be the Bills, not their rivals from Miami, who would eventually play in the Super Bowl.

Paul and his dad set off for Atlanta on Friday, Jan. 28. "My wife (Sharon) asked, 'Is this the kind of male-bonding thing that I hear about?' I said 'Yeah,'" Larry remarked with a laugh. (Larry and Sharon also have a 7-year-old daughter, Kimberly.)

The trip included game tickets as well as plane fare and three nights of hotel accommodations. In addition, Larry and Paul were permitted to traipse around the Super Bowl playing surface at the brand-new Georgia Dome.

Paul and Larry also met a number of Bills at the players' hotel. Placekicker Steve Christie, who set a Super Bowl record with a 54-yard field goal during the Bills' 30-13 loss to the Dallas Cowboys, presented Paul with a Bills jersey. Paul, who was previously a New York

Giants roter, says his No. 1 club is "now the Bills."

Now that he's back from Atlanta, Paul plans on staying busy with activities such as baseball, lacrosse, soccer and bowling. He also participates in Cub Scouts as well as his school band and chorus, and is an altar server at St. Joseph's Church, 43 Gebhardt Road.

Asked for a prediction on next year's Super Bowl, Paul foresees that "the Bills will go back and maybe play the 49ers."

And who will win the game? "Buffalo."

Hey, so what if the Bills have now lost four straight Super Bowls? If this youngster can fight back through tough circumstances, then he has good reason to believe his newly adopted team will do the same.
