

Pope to cross half the globe during 10-day trip in Jan.

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II will hit the road again in January, crossing half the globe during a 10-day trip to the Philippines, Papua New Guinea, Australia and Sri Lanka, the Vatican announced.

Bishops' conferences in the four countries had announced plans for the trip last spring, but concerns over the pope's slow-healing right leg led to speculation the trip would be canceled or significantly scaled down.

The announcement of the trip two months before the central event — World Youth Day 1995 — was set to begin was seen as a sign of Vatican confidence in the 74-year-old pope's health.

The pope is scheduled to leave Rome Jan. 11 and arrive in Manila the next day to participate in the international gathering of young people.

The Vatican said he will remain in the Philippines until Jan. 16, but did not provide details of his schedule. The full itinerary for papal trips usually is published about a month before the visit.

On the same day the trip was announced, Pope John Paul sent his condolences to the people of the central Philippines after an earthquake struck the region.

He offered prayers for the victims and their families, as well as for "God's blessings of strength and peace upon all those committed to the task of rebuilding."

The Vatican trip announcement said beatification ceremonies would be the centerpiece of the Jan. 16-18 stay in Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea, Jan. 18-20 stop in Sydney, Australia, and Jan. 20 visit to Colombo, Sri Lanka.

The pope is scheduled to arrive back in Rome Jan. 21.

The dates announced by the Vatican coincide with the tentative dates released by the bishops' conferences of the four countries last year before Pope John Paul broke his right thigh bone in a fall.

Papal trips to Belgium in May and to the United States in October were canceled because of the pope's injuries.

Filipino Archbishop Orlando B. Quevedo of Nueva Segovia, who had lunch with the pope during the October world Synod of Bishops, said he tried to check the visit with the pope.

He said the pope told him he would be there as long as the young people would not mind if he brought along his cane.

The archbishop said he assured the pope it would not be a problem; Filipino young people have great respect for the aged, he said.

Young boy slain in Bosnia

A general alert has been announced in Sarajevo after three other people were wounded in sniper attacks and two missiles hit the center of the city. On Monday, Nov. 21, in the biggest NATO attack ever, 39 warplanes from the United States and three other nations bombed an airbase and a nearby surface-to-air missile site used by Serbs to terrorize Bosnia. The attacks marked the latest signal of a continuing allied shift against Belgrade after two years of unsuccessful U.S.-led pleas and peace overtures.

Seven-year-old Nermin Divovic lies dead in a pool of blood as unidentified American and British U.N. firefighters arrive on the scene where the boy was shot in the head Nov. 18 by a sniper firing from a Serb position in Sarajevo.
