March for Jesus draws 8,000

S. John Wilkin/Staff Photographer

About 8,000 people, including parishioners of about 23 Catholic churches, turned out for the annual March for Jesus in Rochester May 27. Marchers took a joyous march along the city's Main Street, which was followed by a rally in Manhattan Square Park. The march was part of a worldwide effort by Christians of all denominations to celebrate Jesus Christ. (Above) Heather Herford, a member of the non-denominational Shepherd's Heart Christian Fellowship Church, leads marchers along Main Street.
