

Putnam named St. Mary's president

ROCHESTER — St. Mary's Hospital, 89 Genesee St., has appointed Stewart C. Putnam as its new president and chief executive officer, according to a hospital press statement.

Putnam, 46, previously served as St. Mary's chief operating officer and senior vice president for Inpatient Services. He replaces Patrick J. Madden, now chief operating officer at Sacred Heart Hospital in Pensacola, Fla.

Putnam, who will assume his new duties July 17, developed St. Mary's primary-care network in Monroe County, the largest hospital-paid physician group in the Rochester area. He has also been instrumental in establishing St. Mary's outreach programs for the poor and underprivileged.

"During this time of challenge and change in health care, we are enthusiastic about Stewart Putnam's proven ability to take the helm, and continue our focus on mission and our commitment to high quality care," remarked Sister Marie Burns, chairman of St. Mary's board of directors, in the hospital statement.

Putnam earned a master's degree in business administration and a bachelor of science in biological health from Penn State University. He began his career as an administrator of Big Valley Area Medical Center, Belleville, Pa., and from there went on to serve as executive director of North Jefferson Health Systems in Clayton, N.Y. His first position in Rochester was as executive director of Westside Health Services, Inc.

Putnam and his wife, Ruth, live in East Rochester and have two children.

Synod coordinator adds another position

Cannon will lead Parish Ministries

Kathleen Cannon, Synod implementation coordinator for the Diocese of Rochester, will assume the additional responsibility of overseeing Parish Support Ministries, the diocese has announced.

Father John M. Mulligan, vicar general and moderator of the diocesan Pastoral Center, announced the appointment, which was effective July 10.

"This appointment is a logical outgrowth of Bishop (Matthew H.) Clark's observation that the Synod will be lived out in the parishes of the diocese," Father Mulligan said through a diocesan statement. "The staff of Parish Support Ministries is already deeply involved in Synod implementation. The appointment creates a strong synergism between Synod leadership and implementation."

Cannon formerly headed diocesan Urban Services, Parish Support Ministries' largest department, from 1991 until her appointment as Synod coordinator in January. Previously she served as program developer for Asian-Pacific ministries and coordinator of the urban subsidy program.

Parish Support Ministries, which was created during the Pastoral Center's reorganization in 1991, combines 12 initiatives that respond to parish needs, including Asian-Pacific ministries, African-American ministries, ecumenical/inter-religious affairs, liturgy, parish council formation/small Christian communities, the Spanish apostolate, the tribunal, and urban services.

"(Parish Support Ministries) staff have been working toward a collaborative model of service delivery," Cannon said. "I look forward to exploring this initiative with them as they continue to improve their responsiveness to parishes and to work with other Pastoral Center staff on integrating our services to the greatest extent possible."

Because of Cannon's dual role, the planning responsibility had by her predecessor, Father Peter Clifford, will be reassigned.

"With planning assuming an ever more significant role, we are undertaking a study to determine how we can best attain the increased professional planning support we'll need during the next five years," Father Mulligan noted. In the interim, Father Mulligan will serve as convener of parish configuration and is developing a proposal for assessing planning needs.

A graduate of the State University of New York College at New Paltz, Cannon holds a management development certificate from Rochester Institute of Technology. She is also a 1993 graduate of the Leadership Rochester training program in which the diocese sponsored her as an emerging community leader. In addition, she spent three weeks in Puerto Rico last summer to improve her Spanish.

Her prior work experience includes serving as religious education coordinator at Rochester's St. Anthony of Padua Parish, where she remains an active parishioner.

MISSION NEWS

On Christmas Eve 1932, two missionary priests baptized the first 12 members of the Church in Wa in northwest Ghana. Today, just a little more than six decades later, Catholics in Wa number 156,000, or 24% of the total population. ♦ Anselm Bemile was in one of the first baptism classes in the area. Later, he would become a catechist in the Wa Diocese and the father of eight, including a son, Paul, who is today Wa's newest bishop. ♦ "As I look back, I see the finger of God at work in my life," Bishop Paul Bemile said.

"I also see God's work being accomplished in me and the whole diocese through the Propagation of the Faith. It is the Propagation of the Faith which is at the very heart of the growth of the Church here, and which helps it continue to grow. I rely on those who so faithfully support the Propagation of the Faith for the future growth and evangelization of this vibrant local church."
