Belfast girls now friends through visit to the U.S.

By Rob Cullivan
Staff writer

HENRIETTA — Ask Siobhan Prigent what she likes best about the Rochester area, and she'll answer "Seabreeze," the name of a popular amusement park on Lake Ontario.

The 11-year-old Catholic girl from Belfast, Northern Ireland, has experienced the delights of rollercoasters and other amusements along with her new friend, 12-year-old Sarah Floyd, a Protestant girl and fellow resident of Belfast.

Up until July 27, both girls stayed with Sue and Barry Ackerman, a young Lutheran couple who were among several Rochester-area families to host children from Northern Ireland as part of the Irish Children's Program of Rochester.

The girls traveled with the Ackermans and enjoyed sightseeing in the United States, Sue Ackerman said.

"They've been to every arcade on the east coast," she quipped.

According to ICP members, the program was started to give the children a four-to-six-week break from the "Troubles" in Northern Ireland, and to build bridges between Catholic and Protestant youngsters.

The children participate in a number of fun activities organized by ICP during their stay, which was kicked off with a June 27 reception at Greece's Our Mother of Sorrows Church (see parish profile page 5).

Children such as Sarah and Siobhan come from a land that has made headlines for decades. For a variety of historical reasons, many members of Northern Ireland's Catholic minority wish to unite with the southern Irish Republic, while many members of the north's Protestant majority want to remain ruled by Great Britain. Tensions between both visions of the region have often led to serious fighting between Catholics and Protestants as well as British and Northern Irish security forces since 1969.

But new hopes for peace arose across the region last year when the Provisional Irish Republican Army declared a cease-fire. The declaration was followed by similar cease-fire announcements from Protestant paramilitaries, and by some talks between members of various parties to the conflict.

"There's been no bombing since the cease-fire," Siobhan said hopefully.

THE MONTHLY PRAYER REQUEST FOR PRIESTS

O Jesus/our great High Priest/hear my humble prayers on behalf of your priests.
Give them a deep faith/a bright and firm hope/and a burning love/which will ever increase/in the course of their priestly life.

In their loneliness/comfort them/
In their sorrows/ strengthen them/

In their frustrations/point out to them that it is through suffering/that the soul is purified/and show them that they are needed by the Church/they are needed by souls/they are needed for the work of redemption.

O Loving Mother Mary/Mother of Priests/take to your heart your sons who are close to you/because of their priestly ordination/and because of the power which they have received/to carry on the work of Christ/in a world which needs them so much.

Be their comfort/be their joy/be their strength/and especially help them/to live and to defend the ideals of consecrated celibacy. Amen.

John Joseph Cardinal Carberry, Archbishop of St. Louis

Or whatever the Lord inspires you to offer Him on behalf of His Priests.
