'... follow me'

The Stations of the Cross are also called the Way of the Cross. They depict 14 events in the passion and death of Jesus.

People meditate or pray before each station - or stop - recalling the event it shows. Another popular devotion is to have actors recreate the events as "Living Stations."

The idea of the stations came from early Christians in Jerusalem who used to walk the path Jesus traveled to Calvary. But as Christianity spread, not everyone could get to Jerusalem because of wars, or because they didn't have the time or money for such a trip. So stations were set up in churches, cemeteries and shrines.

The 14 stations are: Jesus is condemned; he takes up the cross; he falls for the first time; he meets his mother; he is helped by Simon of Cyrene; Veronica wipes his face with her veil; he falls for the second time; he meets the women of Jerusalem; he falls for the third time; he is stripped of his clothes; he is nailed to the cross; he dies; his body is removed from the cross; he is buried.
